House Approval Of Repeal Next Monday Is Assured

ARKANSAS TO CAST 6 WET VOTES, SAID

Bone Dry State Delegation in Caucus Today Votes to Join Wet Standard

PASSAGE IS CERTAIN

Republican Leader Claims More Than 103 Votes For Repeal to Be Cast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—A house Democratic caucus by a vote of 115 to 46 today bound the party membership to support the Blaine repeal resolution which will be brought up in the house Monday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Congressional approval of prohibition repeal today became a virtual certainty.

The hitherto bone dry state of Arkansas provided the momentum which convinced house leaders that on Monday their chamber will follow the lead of the senate and vote to send the prohibition question back to the states.

Meeting in formal state caucus the Arkansas delegation of seven members voted six to one for the anti-prohibitionist side to provide the necessary two-thirds majority for approval of a constitutional amendment. This margin is provided by the action of southern states' representatives.

Rep. Ragon, Dem., Ark., leader of the delegation, announced the action.

"It should put repeal over," he said.

Majority Leader Henry Rainey declared repeal would be passed on to the states for ratification by a "comfortable" margin. Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell, pledged that his Republicans will furnish many more than the 103 votes which they cast for repeal on the first vote of the session.

All leaders were agreed that the provision in the senate draft of the amendment pledging "protection" for so-called "dry" states would be the key factor in swinging many votes into line. It was understood to have been the deciding factor in the vital Arkansas delegation action.

Later today, the house Democrats will caucus to bind their membership to a united front for repeal. A two-thirds majority is needed, and leaders expressed perfect confidence of the result. Only those members with definite campaign commitments will be allowed to disregard the caucus vote, and Whips are confident this will be a mere handful.

GUARD AROUND ROOSEVELT IS MADE HEAVIER

Secret Service Men Not to Allow President Elect to Take Chances

BOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL ENROUTE TO NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(UP)—The six bullets fired at Franklin D. Roosevelt in Miami Wednesday will weigh an influence over every public appearance of the president-elect for months to come, it became evident today as his train carried him toward New York.

Mr. Roosevelt sought to dismiss the attempt to assassinate him as a past incident, to be forgotten except for his great interest in the condition of Giuseppe Zangara, the service men and advisors made it clear that the president-elect would be allowed to take no chances and that safeguards unusual even for a president would surround him constantly.

Crowds which gathered to cheer the incoming president at every stop were not allowed, as in the past, to cluster around Mr. Roosevelt's car. Gus Genovese, personal bodyguard, and an augmented force of secret service men stood close by Mr. Roosevelt except when the train was in motion.

Curtain Ceremonies
It was made known that Mr. Roosevelt opposed making any change in plans for his inauguration in Washington, but it was evident that some of those around him hoped the outdoor ceremonies would be curtailed, though not necessarily abandoned, as was suggested in Washington.

It was clear, also, that Mr. Roosevelt would not be allowed his usual freedom of movement in New York where he will spend much of his time from now until his inauguration.

Reports to the train showed that a heavy guard would protect him on his arrival this afternoon, and it was understood that the old, informal days at the Roosevelt townhouse were ended.

There was no disposition among those responsible for Mr. Roosevelt's safety to suspect that the attempt of Giuseppe Zangara, to assassinate him was part of any widespread plot involving other persons not yet arrested. But secret service men and others recognized that such an incident as the Zangara attack often inspires crazed men to imitation.

Hospital Reports
Mr. Roosevelt was kept informed at every station of the latest reports from the Miami hospital where five persons lay wounded by bullets intended for him.

Mr. Roosevelt told his own story

STATE ARCHITECT CALLED AS WITNESS IN ROLPH INQUIRY

ADOLPH HITLER TO PAY VISIT TO MUSSOLINI

Possibility of German Italian Alliance May Be Outcome of Trip

LONDON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Adolf Hitler, German chancellor and leader of German fascism, plans to visit Benito Mussolini, fascist premier of Italy, after the German elections March 5, it was learned today from a reliable source here.

It would be the first meeting between Hitler and Il Duce. The meeting, it was understood, would be designed as an impressive demonstration of Italo-German friendship and the ideals common between Italian fascism and the national socialism of Hitler's Nazi party.

The possibility of a German-Italian alliance has been discussed with evidence of concern in European chancelleries since Hitler became chancellor. It achieved sufficient prominence to be discussed by the foreign affairs committee of the French chamber of deputies.

Former Premier Edouard Herriot said in a speech recently that France would be foolish not to recognize the trend toward closer co-operation between Germany and Italy.

Premier Mussolini denied reports of an alliance between Italy, Germany and Hungary when he reported to the cabinet this week on the general foreign situation.

It was understood Hitler would fly to Italy and it was expected the trip would be made in spectacular style. London political circles were keenly interested in the possibilities in the meeting between the two fascist leaders.

ATTEMPT MADE TO BURN SOLOON'S HOME

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17.—(UP)—An attempt to burn the home of Sen. Huey P. Long, and possibly take the lives of the senator and his family, was frustrated today by a watchman, who chased a prowler from the home with gunfire.

The prowler escaped under a fusillade of shots fired by the neighborhood watchman, who failed to discover the fire which had been started in the Long garage.

Mrs. Long was aroused by smoke coming from the gasoline-sprinkled garage and called the senator. They were unable to discover the source of the fire until the blaze burned the wires leading to the horn of the automobile, causing it to sound.

By this time smoke had filled the Long home. Long called the fire department and several companies responded. He then went to the sleeping quarters of his bodyguard above the garage and awoke him.

DEMONSTRATIONS OF UNEMPLOYED DENIED

SEATTLE, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Additional demonstrations by unemployed were banned today after police evacuated about 3000 from their three-day encampment at County-City building in protest against the new state emergency relief program.

Mayor John F. Dore said he would permit no more parades and demonstrations after a crowd of unemployed and onlookers had been dispersed from the Fourth avenue exit by a fire hose from the ninth floor.

The thin ranks of the unemployed, thus balked in attempts to re-enter the building, marched to their headquarters. Their committee of 20 held a secret meeting and said their next demonstration would be to march to Olympia March 1 to present their demands to Governor Martin.

PAPER PROFITS OF 13 MILLION IN MONTH NET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Paper profits in insular securities aggregating about $13,630,000 were shown today in the senate stock market investigation to have accumulated for Halsey, Stuart and Co., investment bankers who distributed millions of dollars' worth of debentures to the public.

Transaction back and forth between Insull Holding companies and the investment bankers accounted largely for the profits.

H. L. Stuart, president of the banking house, told the committee that his organization's security interest in the various Insull organizations was not revealed to the public. He explained it was not customary to make such revelations.

But he said that in the future he believed such relationships should be known to the investing public.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, loosed a barrage of questions about the Halsey, Stuart & Company radio programs in which

POWERS OF BOARD UPHELD BY COURT

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Discretion of the state reclamation board in refusing to enforce collection of old assessment levies during present economic conditions was upheld today by Superior Judge Peter J. Shields here in denying a writ of mandate to compel payment of Sacramento-San Joaquin drainage district warrants.

The writ was asked by Howard E. Kauffeld and Edward B. Treadwell as trustees for the district, who hold a warrant for $5,121.84, issued in 1919 and since re-registered by the state from time to time. The warrant, representing a portion of the assessment levied for the Sutter-Butte by-pass project, is one of hundreds still outstanding totaling more than $700,000.

NEBRASKA PASSES MORTGAGE MEASURE

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 17.—(UP)—The Nebraska house of representatives today passed mortgage moratorium bill, providing relief for debt burdened property owners for a period as long as four years. The measure was sent to the senate where speedy action was promised. It provides for the length of the moratorium to be decided by the courts in each individual case. The vote, 73 to 14, was regarded as a victory for the farm marchers who invaded the legislature yesterday.

SEEK KIDNAPERS IN DENVER MOUNTAINS

DENVER, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Unceasing search for Charles Boettcher II, kidnaped millionaire, today led police into the nearby mountains, despite his family's belief the young heir is held in some other city.

Police Chief A. T. Clark planned a systematic search of deserted cabins which might be used by the abductors to imprison the 32-year-old heir kidnaped Sunday midnight from the rear of his home here.

A report by a Bergen park caretaker that he had seen two automobiles, bearing Illinois license, in the park a few hours after the kidnaping motivated this latest police activity.

GOV. COMSTOCK WILL BE MADE BANK DICTATOR

Michigan Legislature to Give Broad Powers to Chief Executive

DETROIT, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Legislation to set up Governor William A. Comstock as dictator of Michigan's banks moved forward today as life under the state's extraordinary banking holiday rapidly came back to normal.

A bill arming the government with broad powers to defend the state's financial structure against any attack was passed by the Michigan senate and sent to the house for a vote Monday.

The resolution establishing the governor as banking dictator is the first step in a model program of rehabilitation which Michigan leaders and high government authorities at Washington, D. C., are hopeful may be extended to other states in similar circumstances.

The senate proclaimed an emergency and requested the governor "to proclaim such extensions of the bank holiday as may in his opinion be necessary * * * and restrict and prescribe the conditions under which deposits, either savings, commercial or reserves of other banks, may be released from banks and trust companies, and, if advisable, to vary the restrictions as to such classes of deposits."

Armed with this authority, the governor would be able to authorize varying arrangements to meet local conditions as they arise.

SANITY HEARING IS PLANNED FOR WOMAN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Accused by a coroner's jury of deliberately drowning her 8-year-old daughter, Mrs. Marie Kennedy was held in the county jail today pending an insanity hearing next Monday.

In a rambling manner, Mrs. Kennedy related details of the drowning of her daughter, June, in the bath tub of her Montrose home.

"I just baptized her under the water; she didn't squirm so much, she did some," Mrs. Kennedy told the coroner's jury.

Charles H. Kennedy, her husband, said he was taking steps to have Mrs. Kennedy committed to an institution at the time of the tragedy.

BATTLE FLEET ENDS ANNUAL MANEUVERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Warships of the Pacific and Atlantic fleet began steaming into San Francisco bay today, their annual war maneuvers ended.

Vessels of the "Black" fleet, theoretical enemies, discontinued their attempts to slip through defending forces and attack the coast. Scouting and fighting activities ended at 9 a. m.

Naval authorities made no report regarding the result of the maneuvers, but it was generally understood the blue ships of the United States had repulsed the mock enemy, preventing all but one serious raid on the coast.

Black attackers took advantage of fog to send fighting and bombing planes over Long Beach and other points in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

DINNER PARTY IS ROBBED OF $5500

PASADENA, Feb. 17.—(UP)—"Dinner party bandits" crossed over from Los Angeles last night to invade the home of Joseph B. Kelleher and rob Kelleher and a group of guests of $5500 in money and jewels.

The robbery was tagged by two gunmen who entered from a rear door, lined their victims against the wall and stripped them of their valuables. Before fleeing, the bandits also seized a fur coat.

Says Toner Pleaded For Consultant

Urged Employment of Son-in-law of Supporter of Chief Executive

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—(UP)—The insular state senate investigating committee today delved deeper into affairs of the state administration as they dealt with purchase of a plot of land and plans for construction of a mental hospital in Ventura county.

George F. Cuthbert, real estate broker who received $20,500 commission for sale of the Lewis ranch to the state as a site, although succeeded as agent by Jack G. Kuhrts of Los Angeles, who also received $20,500 commission, was the first witness.

The committee sought to determine what he had done with his commission, as it previously sought to determine Kuhrts' disposal of his money.

Cuthbert testified that he cashed his check for $20,500 and purchased 20 one-thousand dollar certificates of deposit, which he placed in a safety deposit box. He said he cashed some of the certificates, and that about one-half of them remained. Kuhrts had testified that he had withdrawn $10,000 in one-thousand dollar bills which he likewise placed in a safety deposit box.

George MacDougall, state architect, testified that a movement was sponsored by Dr. J. M. Toner, state architect, to employ Harold D. Burkett, Ventura architect, as a consultant in drawing plans for the hospital.

Sheridan Downey, attorney for the committee, demanded of MacDougall:

"Don't you know that Mr. Burkett is the son-in-law of Adolfo Camarillo?"

MacDougall said he did not.

Macarillo is a prominent resident of Ventura and said to be a close personal friend of Governor Rolph and his supporter, although a Democrat while Rolph is a Republican.

"Didn't you know that Mr. Burkett was simply to endorse his name on the plans? That that was to be the extent of his work?" Downey asked.

MacDougall replied that he did not.

JURY ACQUITS JAMES GUY IN YACHT MURDER

Soldier of Fortune Found Not Guilty of Slaying Capt. Wandersell

LONG BEACH, Feb. 17.—(UP)—New adventures beckoned William James (Curly) Guy today as he stood acquitted of murdering Captain Walter Wandersell, a fellow soldier of fortune.

A jury of nine men and three women freed the 33 year old Welsh adventurer last night after deliberating five and a half hours, thus leaving unsolved the fantastic slaying aboard the South Seas yacht Carma last December 5.

Hearing prosecutors demand his death on the gallows was just another adventure for Guy and he was ready for his next. He said he would volunteer as an assistant to Prof. Auguste Piccard for a flight into the stratosphere.

The scientific venture was in line with his determination to leave the United States, since he faces action by the federal government on illegally entry charges.

Guy met the jury with the same broad smile he wore during the two weeks of the trial. The verdict.

JAPS TAKE LEAGUE ACTION SATURDAY

TOKIO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Final action on the expected authorization for Japanese withdrawal from the League of Nations was deferred until tomorrow when the extraordinary meeting of the cabinet adjourned tonight without reaching a conclusion.

The cabinet meeting broke up at 7 p. m. after a three-hour session behind closed doors. The session will be resumed tomorrow, it was announced.

It was understood Foreign Minister Yashu Uchida desired to counter again with Emperor Hirohito before the government formally announces its immediate withdrawal from the league. The foreign minister spent more than a hour with the emperor before today's cabinet meeting, explaining the situation.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Governor Rolph today had under consideration a petition for freedom from Ted Duro, 36, Santa Cruz artist, serving a 14-year term in Folsom prison for conviction on a check charge.

The plea, made on decorated parchment embodying commercial artistry Duro learned in prison, was accompanied by a letter from an Oakland firm offering to give him employment when released.

As Duro is a "two-time loser," having served a term in San Quentin prison for a Los Angeles automobile theft, the state supreme court will be asked to rule on his application.

ARRAIGNING OF ZANGARA IS PUT OVER

Chicago Mayor Passes Restful Night and Appears to Be Holding His Own

FOUR OTHERS IMPROVE

Would-be Assassin Facing Maximum Sentence of 80 Years in Prison

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago passed a restful night and appeared to be holding his own today, and his friends were cheered when his personal physician arrived from Chicago to join the fight to save him from a bullet intended for President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Joseph Gill, Miami society woman, remained in critical condition from another bullet from the gun of Giuseppe Zangara, the would-be assassin, but she was reported to be gaining slightly.

Three other persons wounded by Zangara's wild volley of shots at the president-elect were recovering. Judge E. C. Collins today postponed arraignment of Giuseppe Zangara, until tomorrow, after appointing three attorneys to defend the diminutive fanatic whose crazy one-man plot to kill President-elect F. D. Roosevelt failed Wednesday night.

The court insisted that Zangara should be defended on the four charges of assault with intent to kill, and named James M. McCaskill, past president of the Duane County Bar association, Louis M. Twyman, present president of the association, and Alfred Raia, Italian lawyer, as counsel for the prisoner.

Judge Collins' decision brought an abrupt end to the court proceedings today. It was announced that the delay, until 10 a. m. tomorrow, will give the defense counsel time to study the case.

Dr. Karl Meyers of the North-western University Medical staff, Mayor Cermak's own physician, arrived here today by train after storms near Jacksonville yesterday had halted an attempt to fly to Miami.

Many Physicians
With Dr. Meyers were Dr. Frank Jirka and State Senator R. E. Graham of Illinois, son-in-law of Cermak, and William Haberborn, sergeant-at-arms of the Illinois legislature.

Mayor Cermak was sleeping when they arrived, and he was not awakened.

Cermak's daughter, Mrs. Helen Kenley, arrived late yesterday to be with her father, and Governor Henry Horner of Illinois was en route but was not expected here before tomorrow night.

Both Mayor Cermak and Mrs. Gill, it was evident, faced long, hard struggles to recover from the body wounds inflicted by Zangara, who fired wildly at Mr.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, Feb. 17. (To the Editor of The Register.) I never saw in any of our papers whether this Italian fellow was a citizen or not. If he wasn't it looks like they would have a way of deporting everybody that didn't belong here. All the good Italians in the country, (and there is many of them fine citizens) they would be tickled to death if all their renegade countrymen were out of here, for they have done nothing but bring disgrace on their whole race. And poor Tony Cermak, a fine fellow. I never went through Chicago that I didn't see him. And he was so proud of President Roosevelt. When he flew out there to accept the nomination Tony drove him all over Chicago to show him what a city he had, while thousands were waiting in the hall.

Bastanchury Home Ranch Sold Today For $610,000

BONDHOLDERS GET PROPERTY AT AUCTION

Auction of the 2600 acre Bastanchury home ranch was completed this morning on the steps of the court house with the Bank of America, representing a bondholders' committee buying in the property for $610,000. The auction was conducted by the Bank of America as trustee for the bondholders under a trust indenture of $1,700,000.

Under the auction sale, the Standard Oil company with its claim for $700,000 under a second trust deed becomes one of the unsecured creditors.

The sale was conducted this morning following a conference yesterday in the office of Ben Tarver, referee in bankruptcy, where an agreement was reached for protection of other creditors. Under this agreement Ashby Turner, trustee for the creditors will receive $10,000 cash from proceeds of the sale, approximately 25 acres of land and a two-year option on an adjoining 160 acres to be used

Maybe She Wanted Some Spinach

With a campaign button from the last election lodged in her throat, Helen Stout, 6 years old, of Garden Grove, was taken to the Orange county hospital today in a serious condition.

Physicians took x-ray pictures of the button and attempted to dislodge it, but were unsuccessful. Later the button was pushed down the child's throat and she was kept in the hospital.

She is the daughter of Bertha Stout.

In the event oil is discovered, The property now is listed as citrus land.

Prior to reaching the agreement under which the sale was held this morning, the Standard Oil company had opposed the auction to satisfy claims of the holders of bonds amounting to $1,700,000. The bondholders have been represented by the Bank of America National Trust and Savings company in all negotiations.

Attempts to foreclose on the property on behalf of the bondholders have been held off by Turner, who representing the general creditors, secured restraining orders and had planned an appeal to the United States supreme court from the decision permitting the Bank of America to foreclose the property.

FILES SUIT FOR DEFICIENCY JUDGMENT

Deficiency judgment for $18,379.20 to settle claims remaining after sale of his property under foreclosure is sought in a suit filed in superior court by the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association against John B. Bastanchury.

Bastanchury's property, against which trust deeds were given to secure the three notes on which the claim was made, was sold under foreclosure sale January 3, 1930, by the Corporation of America as trustee for the Bank of America National Trust and Savings company, for $500.

According to the complaint, the money derived from auction of the property was applied on payment of money expended by the Bank of America on the property after accepting the trust deed as security. Expenditures listed in the suit were: $707 incurred in foreclosure and sale of the property; city, county and state taxes amounting to $567.29; delinquent interest on a prior lien amounting to $525 and fire insurance amounting to $80.

The judgment sought in the suit covers a note dated February 11, 1931, for $4000 which expired May 12, 1931; another promissory note for $10,000 executed December 8, 1930, and payable March 9, 1931; and a third promissory note for $3500 executed January 26, 1931, and payable April 27, 1931, in addition to the balance of $1879.20, amount of expenditures by the bank in protecting the property.

SETTLE ESTATE OF OCHSNER IN APRIL

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—The long and bitterly contested legal battle of three women for the $10,000,000 estate of the late Dr. Washington Henry Ochsner, Stanford geologist and discoverer of the Kettleman Hills oil field, will be decided by a superior court jury in April.

Motion of counsel for Mrs. Hilda Carling Ochsner, who was married to the geologist at the time of his death in 1925, for a jury trial was granted by Superior Judge Frank Dunne late yesterday.

The two other contestants for the huge stake are Mrs. Frances Ochsner, wife No. 1, and Mrs. Nancy Ochsner Baldy, wife No. 2. The divorce Ochsner obtained from Frances Ochsner, who is mother of his 8 year old son, recently was set aside by the Nevada courts.

CONDITION OF CHICAGO MAYOR SATISFACTORY

Roosevelt's car just as the president elect concluded a speech in Bay Front park Wednesday night.

The Chicago executive was reported resting well, with much less sedative required than in the first 24 hours after he was shot. His pulse was "satisfactory," blood pressure normal and temperature 98.6, not seriously high. But an X-ray report showed that the bullet which was lodged in the 11th dorsal vertebra had passed through Cermak's diaphragm and liver, and physicians did not disguise their concern over his condition. The chief danger, they indicated, was from pneumonia or a heart attack induced by the wound.

Mrs. Gill's doctors announced it would be two days or more before they would pronounce her out of danger. Blood transfusions were made yesterday but none was planned today.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jenkins of Dallas, Tex., parents of Mrs. Gill, were on their way to Miami today with another daughter, Mrs. Arnold Vincent, and the latter's son.

Others Improve

Hospital attendants said the three who suffered minor wounds from Zangara's pistol were in no danger. They were Miss Margaret Krus, Newark, N. J., William Sinnott, New York detective, and Russell Caldwell, Coconut Grove, Fla.

Zangara could be imprisoned for 80 years if convicted of the four assault charges already filed against him, prosecuting officials revealed today. The charges of assault deal only with Mr. Roosevelt and the three who suffered minor injuries. Authorities avoided for the present filing charges relating to the wounding of Cermak and Mrs. Gill.

Assault with intent to murder is punishable in Florida by a maximum penalty of 30 years, and nothing in the law prevents the court from specifying that sentences on separate counts be served consecutively rather than concurrently. Some officials doubted, however, whether intent to murder could be established except in the count dealing with President-elect Roosevelt, since it was apparent that Zangara had not sought to wound those whom his bullets actually struck.

The bricklayer, tortured by his stomach and his professed desire to harm "all the rich and powerful," gave no indication that he would seek to avoid punishment, but officials moved to prevent a possible plea of insanity.

"I am certain he is not insane," Sheriff Hardie said after a long talk with him.

When Zangara was taken from the Miami jail high in the tower of the skyscraper municipal building yesterday for his first appearance in court, he shouted that he did not want a lawyer to help him.

"You are the judge, you can do what you want to," he cried to Judge E. C. Collins in criminal court.

the "old counselor" broadcast weekly from early in 1928 to July 1932. One of "old counselor's" radio speeches introduced by Pecora was "how a widow with $10,000 should invest her money."

"Who selected the name old counselor?" Pecora asked. "The National Broadcasting company," Stuart replied. "Mr. Aylessworth (head of NBC) had been looking around for sometime to sponsor a financial program."

"To sell securities?" Pecora asked. "I wouldn't say that," Stuart replied, explaining that the broadcaster never mentioned any bond or the price of any security.

"No bonds were sold over the radio," he added. Stuart said the program was opened April 5, 1928, by Rep. L. T. McFadden, Rep., Pa., then chairman of the house banking currency committee. The witness complained that Pecora was "giving the impression that we started this to unload on the public" which he said was not correct.

Stuart identified the "old counselor" as Professor Nelson of the English department of the University of Chicago. He said the broadcast advice was prepared in the Halsey Stuart office, and Nelson was paid $50 a week to deliver it. Pecora's record showed the vast paper profit was accumulated in July 1929 in transactions involving transfers of 57,000 shares of Insull Investment Utilities, Inc., and $2,000,000 of Insull debentures which included rights to purchase 100,000 shares of common at $15.

Stuart said that in syndicate operations there was an additional net profit of $2,000,000.

dict read, he was surrounded quickly by the court crowd. Many women kissed him.

Jurors indicated they were dissatisfied with the state's circumstantial evidence. Two members of Wanderwell's commonwealth crew identified Guy as the mysterious "man at the porthole" who boarded the Carma shortly before Wanderwell was killed by a bullet in the back.

The defense answered by pointing out asserted discrepancies and calling upon almanacs to bolster its contention that the night was too dark for identification purposes.

Guy in a brief appearance on the stand testified he was at the home of Edward De Larm, Arapahoe Indian aviator, in Glendale, 40 miles distant, the night of the shooting. De Larm, who once served as pilot for two South American revolutionaries, corroborated the alibi.

The defense strategy of confining Guy's testimony to his movements on the fatal night prevented the state from questioning him as to threats he allegedly made against Wanderwell.

Aloha Wanderwell, willowy blonde widow of the slain Polka adventure, declared her husband twice quarreled with Guy, the last time shortly before the slaying. Guy admitted the quarrels to police and even admitted "he had plenty against" Wanderwell, but steadfastly maintained he did not kill him.

JUDGES PICK WINNERS IN H. S. CONTEST

Eleven speakers contested at the high school yesterday to determine who shall represent this school in the annual oratorical competition promoted by the Toastmasters clubs among Southern California high schools. The contest was held under the direction of Sheldon Hayden, teacher of forensics, and the judges were from the Santa Ana Toastmasters club.

First honors went to Robert Tannenbaum, whose speech on "A Challenge to America" was almost unanimously selected by the judges. However, since Tannenbaum was a mid-year graduate of the high school, and is now enrolled in junior college, he will not be eligible to compete in the finals, and so another contestant will have that privilege.

Walter Kring, speaking on "Miracles of Friendship," was rated second, with Harold Woodard, on "The Solution"; Claude Owens, on "A Classical Education," and Pearl Bachman, on "Moral Courage" following in the order indicated. These four young people will speak next Wednesday evening before the Santa Ana Toastmasters club, to decide which one of them shall be the representative of this school in the final contest which is to be held in Pasadena on March 25, at the next convention of Toastmasters International.

The other speakers and their subjects were Harry Blades, "Quarrels," Jack Pegues, "Technocracy," Glen Bishop, "Buy American," Al Pickhardt, "The Value of Human Life," Charles Downie, "Keeping Happy" and John Fainberg, on "Whistling."

Court Notes

Judgment for $338.75 plus seven per cent interest on that amount from December 15, 1932 is sought in a suit filed in superior court by Emil G. Kopper, naming Maude Van Fossen as defendant. According to Kopper's complaint Miss Van Fossen signed a note on March 6, 1932 in favor of the John P. Mills Organization of San Diego. The note was for $338.75 and was later sold to Don Cram who later transferred to Ray S. Toser. Kopper purchased the note from Toser. Nothing has been paid on either principal or interest according to the complaint.

Santa Ana property owned by Floyd B. Smith, Santa Ana rancher, is involved in a suit to foreclose a mortgage against it. The suit was filed in superior court by the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank naming Smith as defendant. According to the bank's complaint Smith executed a promissory note for $4000 on behalf of the bank December 11, 1928. Interest on the mortgage was kept paid until June 11, 1931, according to the complaint but nothing has been paid on the principal when the note expired December 11, 1931.

Foreclosure of a mortgage on Anaheim property owned by Louis Jacobson is sought in a suit filed in superior court by Mrs. Emma C. Wagner of Anaheim. The property was mortgaged February 13, 1927, to secure a note for $21,000.

According to her complaint no payments have been made on the principal and interest has not been paid since April 15, 1931.

FORECLOSURE SUIT FILED BY S. A. BANK

Suit for foreclosure of a mortgage on Santa Ana property given as security for a $15,000 loan by the Farmers and Merchants Savings Bank of Santa Ana to Nathan Bordon has been filed by the First National bank of Santa Ana as purchaser of the note from A. C. and Mattie Bowers who had purchased the mortgage from the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank.

The mortgage was executed, according to the complaint, April 13, 1928, to run for five years. On June 21, 1928 it was sold to Bowers and his wife and July 5, 1932, was resold to the First National bank.

According to the petition for foreclosure, interest on the loan has not been paid since April 13, 1932, and nothing has been paid on the principal. The bank is seeking judgment for $15,000, plus 7 per cent interest from April 13, 1932 and $46 expended for a title search.

BARBARA STANWYCK REPORTED IMPROVED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Continued illness of Barbara Stanwyck, stage and screen star, caused the musical revue "Tale Tales" to be closed permanently, the management announced today.

Miss Stanwyck, co-starring in the production with her husband, Frank Fay, became ill Tuesday evening and for three nights disappointed patrons were refunded their money. The show was playing to large crowds and was to have continued through next week.

The actress' condition was not serious, her husband reported.

of the attack shortly after the train left Miami yesterday morning, and repeated it in part to James and Betty Roosevelt, his son and daughter-in-law, who visited him during a ten minute stop at Nahant, Ga., where they had halted on a trip to Thomasville, Ga., for a vacation.

The rest of the time, Mr. Roosevelt preferred to ignore the shooting, though all day messages of congratulation on his escape reached him, coming from this country and abroad.

He turned to conferences on politics and economic conditions before noon, and continued them intermittently through the day. Professor Raymond Moley, his economic and war debt adviser, discussed for some time developments since Mr. Roosevelt departed on his ten day yacht vacation. After Moley left the train at Jacksonville to fly to Cincinnati, Jesse Jones went over Reconstruction Finance Corporation affairs with the president-elect. Jones, now a member of the corporation, is expected to become its chairman after March 4. He is a millionaire lumber and utilities man from Houston, Texas.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Only as what you say and what you do become increasingly consistent with the ideals and the heart of God, will you find the true meaning of life. Only as you open your heart to Him, dedicate your life to His service and ask Him for grace to be brave and true.

Hypocrisy consists not in failing to attain but in failing to try to be sincere.

The blessings which God yearns to bestow upon you through the fellowship and religious exercises involved in membership in a church will bring you supreme happiness only as you open your heart to Him, dedicate your life to His service and ask Him for grace to be brave and true.

OBTAIN $162 LAST NIGHT IN FOUR VISITS

Two bandits who left their "trade marks" in the form of bullet holes in telephone receivers of the places they robbed, held up three Santa Ana business houses and a service station a Tustin in the course of an hour last night.

They escaped in a stolen car, which they had used in the holdups, and which later was found abandoned. The car too was "trade marked" with three bullet holes, when it was found.

A total of $162 was taken from the four places robbed.

The bandits first stole the automobile of Dee Cook, of 1016 North Olive street from in front of his home. This was shortly after 6:30 p. m. About an hour later they drove up to the J. W. Gallman service station at 1402 South Main street, where the first holdup was staged.

Gallman was alone in the place at the time. One bandit got out of the car, the other remained at the driver's seat. Flourishing a pistol, the bandit held Gallman up while he scooped up $10 in the cash register and backed out of the store. As he backed out he shot at the telephone, hanging on the wall. The bullet pierced the mouthpiece. This was at 7:35 p. m.

At 7:45 p. m. they appeared in the East First Street Pharmacy, at First and Lucy streets. Finding the proprietor, E. P. Dyck alone, they held him up, taking $12 from the cash register. Both bandits appeared in the store. They did not fire their guns in this holdup, but seemed to hurry from the place to the automobile which they had left, with motor running, at the front door.

At 7:55 p. m. the same two men rode up to the Mountain View Service Station, at Main street and Mountain View avenue, in Tustin. They held up J. L. Forney, proprietor of the place and looted the cash register of $55, $20 of which was in checks. On leaving one of the bandits fired at the telephone and again the mouthpiece was broken by the bullet. Both telephones broken were pay-stations.

Coming back into Santa Ana again, the same two bandits stopped at the grocery store of J. S. Lewis, 522 South Flower street and held it up, escaping with $75 in cash, which they found in the store's till. Lewis was alone in the store at the time. The two men entered and questioned Lewis about the price of potatoes, he said. When he walked up to them, one drew a pistol, and ordered him to hold up his hands. The other went to the cash register and cleaned it out.

Descriptions of the two men vary, each victim of last night's raid giving police a different version of how the bandits looked, what they wore and how they acted. All agreed that the pistol that was brought into view was a .32 calibre automatic.

Early this morning, the Cook car was found abandoned on English street, north of Washington avenue. Three bullet holes were found in it, another "trade mark" left by the holdup men.

C. A. Nekom, employee of the Kelley Drug company here, reported the theft of his car last night from a downtown street and police are of the opinion that it was stolen by the bandits to make their getaway, after abandoning the Cook machine.

BLITHE FINAL S. A. INHALATOR RITES TO BE SQUAD SAVES HELD SATURDAY WOMAN'S LIFE

Final scenes in the tragedy which wiped out nearly an entire family when Dr. Vernon Blythe, Santa Ana dentist, killed his wife, youngest son and himself in a Downey schoolroom, will be enacted tomorrow when funeral services for the three will be held.

Funeral services for Mrs. Eleanor Blythe, her son Robert, and Dr. Blythe, will not be held in the same places, however, it was learned today.

Last rites for Mrs. Blythe and her eight-year-old son, Robert, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the First Baptist church in Downey, under direction of the Miller Brothers Funeral home. Mother and son will be buried in Rose Hill cemetery, Whittier.

Services for Dr. Blythe will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the chapel of the W. A. Brown Funeral home, Los Angeles. His body will be buried in Monrovia cemetery.

The Los Angeles county coroner's office decided that no inquest would be held over the bodies, the cause of death having been apparent, with many eye witnesses.

The oldest son, Vernon Jr., who was a student in the Willard junior high school here, is staying with his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Stants, in Downey. He alone escaped the stream of death dealing bullets from his father's gun, the shot fired at him missing as he fled down the street.

SENTENCE MAN TO PRISON FOR THEFT, ASSAULT

Intimation that charges of misconduct on the part of the jury which convicted Ray LaMarr on two counts of assault and one of second degree robbery and Frank Medina and Leo DeSoto of one count of simple assault and one of robbery in each case, failed to materialize in court here yesterday. LaMarr was sentenced to Folsom prison and the other defendants applied for probation.

LaMarr, DeSoto and Medina appeared last Monday for pronouncement of judgment which, when Attorney William Webb, representing LaMarr informed the court that he had just been told of an alleged act of misconduct on the part of jurors in the case was delayed until yesterday by Superior Judge H. G. Ames, before whom the case was tried.

Webb yesterday informed the court that investigation failed to substantiate charges of jury misconduct. LaMarr after receiving three sentences to Folsom which will run consecutively, was taken into department three, superior court and sentenced to an additional term of from one to 14 years in prison for violation of probation. This sentence is to run concurrently with the sentence for robbery.

LaMarr, who served 38 months in prison for grand theft and was later given probation of a forgery charge, will serve from one year to life for second degree robbery; one to 10 years for assault with

FULLERTON K. T. TEAM PUTS ON INITIATION HERE

Members of Fullerton commandery, Knights Templar, were guests of the Santa Ana commandery, at a meeting in Santa Ana Masonic temple Wednesday night at which the illustrious Order of Malta was conferred in full form on Fred Jacobs of this city. Officiating visitors were members of the Fullerton Malta team, headed by Wendell Irwin, Curtis Reeves, Arthur Staley, S. C. Hartrant, Edwin Fink and Grant Van Valen, commander of the Fullerton commandery.

The Santa Ana commandery was invited by Sir Knights Charles Cook and T. Gartz of Pasadena commandery to attend a ceremony and reception for the Grand Commander and his suite and for all officers of the several Southern California commanderies in the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, March 4. An earlier opportunity to greet the Grand Commander will be afforded in the local commandery's trip to Long Beach Wednesday.

The debating team from the Orange County Chapter of the American Institute of Banking will debate a San Diego team on the subject, "Resolved: That a Sales Tax Should Be Substituted for a Real Estate Tax" in the music room of the Willard Junior High school at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow, it was announced today.

The local team is composed of Glen Gossett and Louis Oliver, both of Fullerton and will uphold the affirmative of the debate.

The public is invited to attend the debate.

February 21, for a dinner and reception, Santa Ana members are requested to meet at Masonic temple at 5:45 o'clock that afternoon.

LEGION HEAD TO INTRODUCE GUESTS AT BALL

Judge James B. Tucker will act as master of ceremonies at the Fifth Annual Military Ball to be given on Washington's birthday at the Valencia ballroom between Anaheim and Santa Ana, it was announced today by Earl B. Hawks, commander of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans.

Judge Tucker will introduce the distinguished guests of the evening, including several military and naval officials expected to be present. He will have the pleasure of presenting Col. Nelson M. Holdeman, prominent Orange county war hero, whose acceptance of an invitation to be present has created interest in the county.

Commander of Santa Ana Legion post, Judge Tucker has been prominent in all matter of veteran welfare. He is past president of Santa Ana Rotary club and is a prominent attorney. Previous to his arrival here, he was superior court judge in Utah and served with the field artillery as captain during the World War.

Everett Hoagland's orchestra will insure an enjoyable dance program, broken only for a brief period, when the guests will be presented. The hall will be decorated in appropriate red, white and blue, according to Mrs. Fannie E. Reeves, chairman of that committee. National guardsmen and the American Legion drum corps will add color to this year's ball with a great number wearing the uniforms of 1917-1918 will create a pronounced military air.

Jules W. Markel, chairman of the ticket committee, reports favorably on the reception his committee has received in the county and Santa Ana in particular. The reaction at this time is undoubtedly due to the Military Ball being the only function sponsored by the Jack Fisher chapter and the citizens are supporting it admirably, he said. Markel will make a detail report at the meeting of the committee next Monday at the A. G. Flagg home, when final reports of all committees will be received.

Owen Stevenson Called By Death

Owen Walker Stevenson, resident of Anaheim from 1916 to 1929, died in Hollywood yesterday afternoon following an illness of several years duration, it was learned today.

He is survived by his widow, Edith Leeper Stevenson, and a brother, Wade Stevenson, of Ohio. Funeral services will be held in the McQuillen funeral home, Long Beach, at 10 a. m. Monday.

Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

PRESIDES

Judge James B. Tucker, below, has been selected to act as master of ceremonies at the Fifth Annual Military Ball sponsored by Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans, which will be held on Washington's birthday at the Valencia Ballroom between Santa Ana and Anaheim.

Failure To Pay Taxes Results In Foreclosure Suit

Alleging that Gustav J. Johnson had failed to pay the taxes for 1930, 1931 and 1932 on property owned by him and held under mortgage, Mrs. Gertrude L. Bennett has filed suit against Johnson for foreclosure of the mortgage. The mortgage was for $2500 and is not due until April 20, 1932.

Under the terms of the mortgage was required to keep the taxes paid and pay interest on the loan quarterly, failure to meet either of these agreements makes it optional with the mortgage holder as to whether or not the principal shall be declared due. In her complaint Mrs. Bennett alleges that in addition to being forced to pay a total of $98.94 for back taxes she has not received payment of the last four quarterly interest amounts. She is suing for judgment totaling $2791.10.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO

Many cases of whooping cough are reported in Capistrano. Among those suffering from the ailment are Barbara Joan Eden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Eden; Richard Lopez, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Garcia; and Peggy Jean and Joan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Landreth.

SAYS GROWERS ARE USING TOO MUCH WATER

Bean growers of Orange county are washing their profits away with excessive irrigation, according to J. B. Brown, irrigation specialist who has one of the outstanding speakers Wednesday at the second annual Bean Growers' Institute held at Edison school.

Brown spoke on the topic "Irrigation Practice and Soil Moisture Requirements for Beans" and said that in the majority of cases the growers spend the difference between expenses and profit in useless irrigation. There are cases, however, where this extra irrigation is necessary. Such cases where the land is alkaline or soil too heavy to permit ready penetration of water.

Investigations conducted since the recent rains reveal that further irrigation, except in places where the soil is heavy or alkaline, will be unnecessary this year, he declared. Tests have been made on good bean land and reveal that moisture has penetrated below the five foot level.

Brown was the first speaker during the morning session. Other speakers during the morning were Prof. H. B. Walker, head of the Division of Agricultural Engineering, University of California, who spoke on "Thresher Injury and Progress in Thresher Construction Investigation"; C. Emlen Scott, pathology specialist, who spoke on "Pusillium Dry Root Rot and other Bean Diseases."

During the afternoon session R. L. Churchill, secretary-manager of the California Lima Bean Growers' Association, spoke on marketing conditions and M. A. Thompson, manager of the Los Angeles branch Region Agricultural Credit Corporation, spoke on the "Agricultural Credit Situation." He outlined the present setup under which federal loans are available to farmers.

Other speakers during the afternoon session were: J. Earl Coke, extension specialist in agronomy; Dr. Rodney Cecil, U. S. Department of Agriculture; Roy E. Campbell, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Erle E. Eastman, assistant farm adviser in orange county.

Lunch was served at noon by members of the Edison Parent-Teachers association who turned proceeds from the luncheon over to children of the unemployed. Food served was donated by Santa Ana merchants of the district. Mrs. J. J. Kelly today expressed appreciation of the association for the donations.

John A. Murdy, Smeltzer, chairman of the Orange County Farm Bureau bean department, presided during the sessions.

DELAY SEEN IN PLAN FOR NEW ARMORY HERE

Hopes for the construction this year of a state armory building in Santa Ana were fading today, as it was learned that the state legislature is not favoring any construction bills or building appropriations due to the deficit in the state budget.

General Seth Howard, state adjutant, who was in Orange county recently, expressed doubt that any construction project appropriation would be approved this year.

Assemblyman James B. Utt pointed out today that there are several bills in the legislature to curtail activities of the state militia and even one to abolish the organization, and in view of these facts it is doubtful that the appropriation will be made this year, he said.

Santa Ana, with several other California cities, was scheduled to receive an appropriation for the state armory building this year. Local civic leaders have been spending a great deal of effort in order to obtain the building for the city.

The building was to have been erected on property donated by the city for that purpose at Eighth and Olive street as part of the Municipal Bowl project.

VALUATION CUT DUE IN SCHOOL DISTRICT

FULLERTON, Feb. 17.—The assessed valuation of the Fullerton Union High school district will be reduced from 15 to 10 per cent this year, according to figures at the office of the principal, Louis E. Plummer, received from the office of the county assessor.

The Fullerton Christian Science church was granted permission to use the auditorium February 24 for a lecture.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

JAPAN

The British did a somersault on the Manchurian question recently. They suddenly stopped trying to block action by the League of Nations and joined hands with those who would slap Japan on the wrist. The conversion may be permanent.

An underlying reason was that the Chinese press was getting belligerently anti-British. The vernacular editors halted their nose-thumping at the Japanese and turned their widespread fingers on Sir John Simon. He had been penning around Geneva to prevent anti-Japanese action. The British could not stand for that. They have commercial interests in China which far outweigh their peace interests in the Pacific. They own the better part of the Yangtze valley, Hongkong, Shanghai and Tientsin. It did not take them long to figure that they had better change allies.

It is quite obvious that London ordered Sir John to negotiate the change of front. Action was presumably taken by the British cabinet. The instigator was Premier MacDonald. Until then he had let the cabinet faction favoring Japan have its own way.

The change does not mean that anything important will be done to Japan. It means that a show of doing something will be staged to pacify China. And it also means that Asian precedents will be laid down carefully for use when Hitler gets going strong.

Admiral Pratt did not fib when he said he was keeping the American fleet in the Pacific another year for reasons of economy. He just meant economy of words in our Far Eastern policy not economy in money.

Latest official confidential reports from Japan indicate anti-American feeling has NOT diminished even though you seldom hear about it in news dispatches. The best qualified Japanese sources here say Japan will surely withdraw from the league if the decision there goes against them. That will be only of psychological importance. Under league rules her resignation would NOT become effective until two years after its submission.

NAVY

The new deal may include a naval building program. The first feather toward that has been put out by Floor Leader Rainey in the house. He wrote Secretary of Navy Adams asking how much it would cost to build up to our treaties. Adams gave him an extensive reply.

There are other indications that Mr. Roosevelt feels the next step toward disarmament is for us to build some ships. Then our competitors will be more willing to disarm.

JEHOL

It is the weather and not the Chinese which is holding the Japs back in Jehol right now. That is why you have seen few dispatches regarding Japanese military activities. They use water-cooled machine guns and tanks which cannot operate efficiently in sub-zero temperature.

INFLATION

Democrats in congress are already beginning to split into blocs. Inflationists are one group working ardently to kill the Roosevelt economy program. They think the way to future success lies in the opposite direction. They know government cuts will postpone the day of their dreams.

SUNSHINE

It is a Mills family secret that Treasury Secretary Ogden O. must spend two weeks of every year in California. The stipulation was made in his father's will. That is one of the main reasons he is going home with Mr. Hoover. He got in the two weeks last year during the campaign.

BARRY

A senator is supposed to have told Sgt.-at-Arms Barry how he could have slipped off coat-free. He suggested Barry write a confidential letter to each of the 96 senators announcing that he would tell all he knew. The senator promised there would not be a quorum present to vote on the Barry case.

You are supposed to laugh at that. It is a joke, not a fact.

GLASS

President Wilson's former physician, Dr. Cary Grayson, is the one who has kept Senator Glass warring about acceptance of the treasury post. They are good friends. Dr. Grayson is not exactly pleased with the senator's physical condition. He has the approval of the Glas family in arguments he has made.

NOTES

The trouble with the senate in the Barry case was that the men who live by criticizing others can't take it themselves. After hearing all the charges they heap upon their enemies and each other you would be surprised to learn how thin-skinned they actually are, particularly to press and editorial criticism. Senator Borah is an exception. He believes those who live by the sword should expect to die by it and once said: "In the verbal encounters of this world, I am willing to undertake my own defense—courts are too busy and too slow." Congressmen Eudlow, author of the current book attacking federal bureaucracy, introduced a bill the very first day he came to congress proposing to make it a federal offense to put lead slugs in slot machines.

NEW YORK
By James McMillin

BANKS

The election of Landon K. Thorne as director of the First National bank is significant of a closer tieup among several large New York banks. Thorne is already a large stockholder and director of Bankers Trust and a partner of Bonbright and company. Another Bonbright partner—Alfred Loomis—is a director of Central Hanover, Bonbright & Co. has a Morgan utility tieup.

Thorne and Loomis between them saved the Bonbright firm when it was in difficulties in 1929. Frederick Walcott—now senator from Connecticut—left the firm soon after they took charge.

Wall Street's guess is that Thorne may be asked to try his hand at hauling First National's security affiliate out of the soup. This affiliate has suffered more than most. The collateral it holds against loans is estimated at 11 million dollars less than the loans themselves.

Morgan interests have acquired increased holdings in the National City bank, which answers the comment of those who noted the absence of National City representation on the list of 52 notable citizens to advise the senate.

CREDIT

The New York federal reserve bank stepped into the breach last week and bought about 20 million dollars worth of governments in an effort to offset the continued shrinkage in member bank reserves. The Chicago bank is now definitely committed against the N. Y. policy. Some of the other regional banks are on one side of the fence, some on the other, but any practical assistance given to the N. Y. program will be sharply limited.

MERGER

Negotiations are under way for the merger of many of the small banks in New York City into one or more larger institutions. The move has the warm approval of the New York state banking department. The small banks are liquid enough and perfectly safe but are unable to earn anything on their small capitalization under present conditions.

The plan will take a long time to work out. The small bankers have their pride and they take unkindly to the idea of lesser titles. Also each of them is suspicious that his institution might be abolished once the merger was consummated.

EARNINGS

Twenty-five out of 200 companies which have issued 1932 statements show increased profits for that year over 1931. Twelve others show smaller losses. In sum, 15 per cent of companies reporting to date did better last year than the year before.

The largest companies to show increased profits are Standard Brands (Morgan) and Atlantic Refining (Rockefeller). Curiously there are two railroads on the list—Bangor and Aroostock and New York, Ontario and Western. Butler Brothers, Baldwin Locomotive and Pacific Mills were among those to reduce their losses.

Quite a few companies did nearly as well in 1932 as in 1931. This list includes Chesapeake and Ohio, National Biscuit, Public Service of New Jersey, Liggett and Myers and Reynolds Tobacco.

TOBACCO

The Wall Street whisper has it that American Can is dicker with the big four tobacco companies to supply them with new tin containers of 25 cigarette capacity. The long rumored price cut may come about this way. It is worth noting that the manufacturers have used up their high-priced stocks and can now take advantage of the lower prices prevailing in the last two years.

REPUBLICANS

The Republican assembly caucus at Albany came within a whisker of taking a vote of confidence on State Chairman Macy's leadership. If this had happened it would have busted the Republican majority in the assembly wide open. It was headed off by snappy work on the part of Speaker McGinnis who saw his own job endangered. But this scrap is bound to come to life again soon.

BANDWAGON

Several prominent Wall Street men are making frantic efforts to organize a big celebration on March 4 either at New York or as part of the inaugural festivities in Washington. The organizers figure that such a demonstrative blowout would give them a good sendoff with the new administration.

A bull push is discussed as a possible contribution to the festiactivities. But the question intervenes—"What with?"

HILL'S STOPS COLDS

SIDELIGHTS

National City is all set on its stock certificates if the bank and the affiliate are compelled to get a divorce. Certificates of the two organizations are printed on a single sheet of paper so designed that a snip of the scissors will cut them apart. Other banks with affiliates have not been so fore-thoughtful. Says People Must Demand End Of Partisan Government

500 HEAR TALK BY DR. MILLS ON U. S. SITUATION

FULLERTON, Feb. 17.—If the people of the United States would stand on their rights and demand that the Congress of the United States, operate to the full power of the provisions, of the constitution, the depression would end in 30 days, and people could go about their legitimate purpose, the pursuit of happiness. Walter Thomas Mills told a crowd of more than 500 at the old Fullerton Union High school auditorium last night.

One Big Corporation
The solution of the present situation is to abolish partisan government, not by changing government, but by demanding that all representatives refuse to take command from caucuses, and represent the people, the housewife and the farmer, as well as the banker, the speaker said, urging people to see to it that the congress is representative of the people of America, and that this country is operated like one big corporation, with representatives wise men who know how.

The speaker, known throughout the world for his work, his lectures and his books, based his talk on the great documents of history of the United States, the chief being the preamble and the Constitution of the United States, the declaration of independence and the farewell address of George Washington.

He said the preamble and the Constitution provide for the general welfare of the people, and that at present, all are either unemployed or badly employed, that farms are mortgaged, that all business is indebted, that all people have unpaid bills, and that all property values are deflated.

Must Handle Situation
"The government must deal with the situation. We do not want a new form of government, ours is good enough. If we will use the power of the ballot and express what we want," he said.

Concerning Washington's farewell address, he said the first president warned against partisan politics, and that his warnings are worth heeding today. He suggested that the best thing that could happen to America is for national conventions to write their farewell address.

In conclusion he said, "The United States congress has the power to make an end to this depression and could do so in 30 days. It could declare war against this distress of poverty, unemployment and bankruptcy. It could commandeer the idle farms, mines, railways, storage plants, factories, nearly all buildings, and all the consumable goods now in store, together with all idle labor, at standard prices and wages."

National Commissary
"For all consumable goods now in store and for the use of all these productive properties and for all labor, immediate cash payments could be made with national orders on the national commissary for consumable goods for personal use, and it would provide a budget which would control production and make an end forever of the fear of poverty and of industrial or commercial despotism."

The above statement, with the following, he urged people to sign, and to send to congress:
"For these reasons, we the undersigned, the people of these United States, on whose authority only and only, the constitution of the United States was ordained and established, as stated in that document itself, hereby petition congress to proceed as above proposed in obedience to this constitution, to provide for the common defense and for the general welfare as is made its duty to do in the first sentence of the eighth section of the first article of the Constitution, just as it was written in the first place and in that particular has never been amended."

The speaker is circulating these petitions to write him at 1736 East Seventy-first street, Los Angeles. Charles Ruby, teacher of law at school, and sponsor of the weekly public forums, announced that Dr. Rufus Von Klein Smid will speak at a public meeting at the new auditorium next Tuesday night on "New Internationalism."

Noted Landscape Architect Speaks At Laguna Feb. 24

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 17.—With a noted landscape architect as guest speaker, the next regular meeting of the Garden club is scheduled on February 24 at 2 p. m. Miss Ann E. Mason has again extended the hospitality of her home and garden at 451 Magnolia avenue. The lecture on "Planning a Garden" will be by Warner Lincoln Marsh, of Los Angeles. Marsh is especially known for his connection with the Whigley estates in Phoenix, Ariz.

267 ADULTS AND CHILDREN AT DINNER OF FARM CENTER

ORANGETHORPE, Feb. 17.—Two hundred and sixty-seven adults and children attended dinner at the Orangethorpe school Thursday evening. The tables were tastefully decorated in ferns and red berries. The dinner was served by the Parent-Teacher association.

R. D. Flaherty discussed the legislative problems of particular interest in the agricultural industry. Fertilization was explained by means of charts by Eric E. Eastman, assistant farm advisor of Orange county, who urged that study be given to the matter so that the most may be realized for the money expended. Encephalitis was as a windbreak were recommended as having proved most satisfactory.

Ivan and George Jeffry, of Fullerton, furnished music on the harmonica and steel guitar. The home department as a necessary part of the farm center was explained by Mrs. R. E. Launer, of La Habra, outlining the two objectives in view, first, to aid the farm center, second to form an aid the 4-H clubs of boys and girls. An active home department is working in La Habra with much interest being shown among the boys and girls, she stated.

Committee chairman for the dinner were Mrs. Max Royer, general; Mrs. J. W. Smalley, coffee; Mrs. A. L. Cook, cakes; Mrs. Carl Vetter, salads; Mrs. Ernest Harmon, tables; Mrs. P. V. Kelly, meats; Mrs. B. H. Christlieb, waitresses and Mrs. A. Eberhard, dishes.

LAGUNA BEACH BOARD ACTS TO CUT EXPENSES

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 17.—Economies to offset the $2000 deficit in the county street lighting district and make further savings to the taxpayers will be put into effect shortly by the city council of Laguna Beach, as the result of a report made at the meeting of that body Wednesday night by Mayor Frank E. Champion, former commissioner of water, light and engineering.

Former Mayor J. E. Bishop was empowered to deal with the Southern California Edison company in reducing the number of lamps in the ornamental lighting system to write to the board of supervisors, requesting permission of that body for the reductions.

Following an appeal from Fred Christensen, an amendment was ordered to be drafted to the license ordinance, on motion of Councilman B. Bishop, that the license fee for pool balls be reduced to $15 per annum. Under the existing scale of the present ordinance Christensen was paying $32. Councilman M. B. McMillan suggested that the license fee for art stores be raised from $10 to $15 per annum to make them conform to the general business licenses and Councilman Bishop included that in his motion.

At an adjourned meeting to be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the council will make an effort to straighten out a garbage disposal problem caused by the low price of hogs and the desire of Lewis F. Moulton, big ranch owner, to eliminate hog ranches from his property. A verbal contract between Moulton and Tom Bird, who has the contract for the disposal, has two years to run, but because of hog prices Bird has technically broken his contract by failure to make payments to the city. Councilman George W. Wilson reported. Bird will meet with the council in an effort to arrive at a new contract under a sliding scale.

The request of Miss Hazel Nell Bonas, Santa Ana teacher, for haste in settling a suit, in which she is a defendant, brought by property owners to obtain a right-of-way to the beach at Sugar Loaf in upper Arch Beach, was referred to the city attorney.

Do this for Your Child in TWO WEEKS

How to rid any boy or girl of sluggishness or constipation and build a big appetite. The trouble with children who will not eat is usually stasis. The symptoms are a tongue that's always coated, bad breath, poor color, dull eyes that are often a yellowish yellow. No appetite, no ambition—even for play. Hard to get to sleep, hard to wake in the morning. There's an absolute remedy for this condition. It gives listless youngsters the appetite and energies of a young animal! They eat! They gain! They keep well! It's not the stomach, but the bowel condition that keeps children from eating. But the trouble is in the lower bowel—the colon. California syrup of figs is the only "medicine" that is needed to stimulate the colon muscles. The very next day, your child is eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the syrup of figs a few days and you will see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight and spirits. Any drug store has the real California syrup of figs, all bottled, with directions. Nature never made a nicer acting or nicer tasting laxative. (It is purely vegetable.) Remember California syrup of figs when sickness, a cold or any upset has clogged a child's bowels. WARNING: Even when it's something to give children, some stores will try to substitute. So be sure the bottle says CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs—Adv.

ANOTHER TRY AT UNCONQUERED EVEREST

Once more an expedition is girding for one of the last great adventures left in the world, the climbing of the earth's highest mountain

By EMILY C. DAVIS

THE snowy crown of Mount Everest, earth's highest peak, five and one-half miles aloft, stands unclimbed and unconquered. Despite the most carefully laid plans to reach the summit, no human being has ever boasted of standing on the very ridgepole of the roof of the world.

In the highlands about the great mountain, Tibetans smile with the wisdom of their forefathers. In their eyes, Everest is holy, and more powerful than the foreigners who try so hard to match wits with the spirits of the mountain. The Tibetans call Everest the Mother Goddess of the Mountain Snows.

These Tibetan natives have seen what befell three Everest expeditions. One man stricken by illness and death before he even reached the real ascent, in 1921. Seven men swept into eternity by an avalanche in 1922. Two men mysteriously vanishing in 1924.

Among the highland people, the record of fatalities breeds a superstitious legend of divine vengeance, like the legend of a curse against those who tamper with Egypt's royal tombs. Obviously, the natives point out, the spirits of the mountain have spoken in displeasure. The foreigners should have learned their lesson.

But in London men and maps are being prepared for new attacks. There will be an expedition of mountain climbers on the slopes of Everest in 1933, and, something new, an attempt to fly over the world's highest peak.

LIKE the Tibetans, the explorers realize that the mountain is truly terrible and awe-inspiring. But the explorers' fears are not for the vengeance of invisible demons. Three campaigns to Everest in the last 11 years have shown clearly that the demons of the mountain are these:

1. Altitude, such as mountain climbers have never experienced.
2. Weather so hostile to human bodies that it is no wonder the natives think malignant spirits are responsible.
3. Avalanches, which may hurl an expedition into eternity in a minute.
4. Baleful effects of ultra-violet rays at the high altitudes of the peak.

To fight these demons of Everest the explorers are marshaling all the forces of science. Every bit of experience from previous climbs is being taken into account.

After the 1921 expedition, one climber reckoned the chances of a given party reaching the top of Everest at a given time as "50 to 1 against." Today there is a strong feeling of confidence.

THE new British climb is under the same auspices as three previous expeditions—the Mount Everest Committee, with headquarters at the Royal Geographical Society's House in London. The leader will be Hugh Rutledge, former deputy commissioner in the Indian Service, and well-known for his explorations in the Himalayas.

The flight over Mount Everest, also British but a separate expedition, is to be piloted by Lord Clydesdale, 29-year-old member of Parliament and amateur sportsman.

Conquering Mount Everest is a passion which British explorers have taken to their hearts. There is valuable scientific information to be gathered in this remote skyland of Asia, of course.

Former expeditions have observed geological formations, and described the wild life of the mountain. Snakes were unexpected inhabitants seen at hot springs in one of the high passes, and spiders were found in crevices of ice 22,000 feet high. Odell, a geologist, found fossils at a height of 25,000 feet.

The medical officer of the last expedition took records of blood pressure, pulse rate, knee jerk and other physiological data on the climbers at heights up to 21,000 feet. He even set his fellow climbers to doing mental tests, and found that they could multiply and divide sums with "no definite deterioration of mental activity."

He added, humorously, "It will not please the members of the next expedition to hear that more complicated and worrying tests are required."

BUT valuable as the scientific data from Everest may be, the attempt on Everest is, to British explorers, primarily a great adventure.

ture, one of the last great adventures left in the world. Explorers are coming to the gloomy view of Alexander the Great, who could see no more worlds to conquer. Little wonder that the British are determined to make Mount Everest a British achievement.

This viewpoint is clearly expressed by Lord Clydesdale. In announcing his plans to act as chief pilot for the flight over Everest, he said: "The objects of the expedition are first and see how the climb should be made.

Before that reconnoitering trip, the nearest approach to Everest by a white man had been made by the explorer Capt. John Noel, who got within 40 miles of the mountain, in 1913. Yet as far back as 1893 there were plans outlined for climbing Mount Everest.

The first dash for the top came in 1922, in a campaign planned with military thoroughness. Native porters carried supplies. The caravan moved up to one camp after another, resting at each upward stage for the men to become a little accustomed to the rarefied air.

BEFORE that ascent, the altitude record for mountain climbing was held by the Duke of Abruzzi, who attained 24,600 feet on Bride Peak in the Himalayas. Now, on Everest, men slept in camp at 25,500 feet, without oxygen, demonstrating that human lungs and hearts can grow accustomed to such extreme, almost fantastic conditions for human life.

At 27,300 feet, Bruce and Finch set a new record and could go no farther. Almost 2000 more feet of climbing stretched ahead of them, but the season was late, and the men weary. On June 17, the mountain gave a terrible warning by sweeping seven native porters into eternity in an avalanche of snow.

The 1924 expedition saw some of the same men, even relatives of the dead porters, back on the slopes of Everest, more determined than ever. They established chains of camps as high as 27,000 feet, higher than native porters had ever carried loads.

Two explorers, Mallory and Irvine, made an attempt to reach the summit. Other members of the party, watching from a lower station, saw the two climbers pass out of sight in the mist. At 600 feet from the top, their forms came into sight for an instant, then they were never seen again.

From these experiences, British explorers feel that they know the worst that this mountain can do, and they believe that they can go over the top to victory.

THE fascination which this unfriendly but very beautiful mountain holds for mountain explorers is not easy for groundlings to appreciate, as they hear of the ordeals endured.

At such altitudes as 16,000 feet, or even 19,000, natives live comfortably in high plateaus of the world. But for a man to try to rise to 29,000 feet within a few weeks is something entirely different. The machinery of heart and lungs is thrown violently out of adjustment by a sudden rise into thinner air.

Climbers back from Everest expeditions tell vividly of their feelings on the climb. Their hearts pound mercilessly. The thin air parches their throats. Their lungs feel stifled for want of oxygen. A dragging stupidity overwhelms them, so that any exertion seems too much. Yet they must still try to take pictures, or aid in camp work, or push their dragging bodies forward to a higher, more perilous station.

Captain Noel, photographic historian of the 1922 and 1924 expeditions, tells in his book, "The Story of Everest," about his struggle to get four cameras, tripods, supplies, developing tent, and tanks up the most difficult mountain trails in the world and up to the glacial heights of the highest mountain.

With the help of his porters, he got the cameras up to 23,000 feet. And he adds with the matter-of-fact simplicity that characterizes those who set records on Everest: "That is the altitude record for any motion picture machine."

Another photo from Captain Noel's book. . . . The rocky height on the left is the north-eastern shoulder. The summit of Everest is the peak on the right, far behind.

flown in recent years.

"There is only one original flight worth while; that is the flight over Mount Everest, which stands out as the only significant part of the world which has not been flown over."

He added that flying over this mountain would have a great psychological effect on India, dispelling the fallacy that England is weakening, and that the British are no longer a virile and active race. Such a feat would strongly emphasize British daring and hardihood.

ALTHOUGH three previous expeditions have been sent out by the Mount Everest Committee, only two can be said to have failed in reaching their goal.

The first expedition set out in 1921 to survey the scene and lay the campaign for climbing the peak. This was done successfully. The explorers advanced northward from Darjeeling, India, into Tibet. They journeyed through unknown valleys and plains up to the glaciers of Everest.

From the northeast side of the mountain, where the ice cliffs seemed least formidable, they pushed their way closer to the peak they would some day climb. They stood on one of the ridges 23,000 feet high and were able to

HOOKS DON-FULLERTON GAME TOSSUP, BELIEF SLIDES Ernie Schaaf Was Martyr To Boxing--Walsh

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER

The fans of Flatbush are dazed, the National league is dazed, the Brooklyn management is dazed, and President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals is dazed—not to mention the profound bewilderment of the old Dazzer, Dazzy Vance.

The Dazzer, as much of an institution with the Brooklyn Dodgers as Uncle Wilbert Robinson used to be, awoke one morning recently, read the papers and found he had been traded, with Shortstop Gordon Slade, to the St. Louis Cardinals for Pitcher Owen Carroll and Infielder Jake Flowers. And so we find the Brooklyn club foisting on Sam Breadon a situation that calls for gentle manipulation, an art for which Mr. Breadon is noted.

CUTTING REMARKS
The Flatbush club has been trying to slice Dazzy's yearly stipend from $16,500 to $8,000. Naturally it expected trouble when the old speedball artist was faced with such a slice.

And Sam Breadon got the trouble and a hurler who won 12 games while losing 11 last season.

SUCH STATISTICS!
It is not hard to picture Vance, with pencil in hand and the National league pitching averages spread on a table before him. The Dazzer's earned run average for last year, by the way, was 4.19, which was not so hot for a $16,500 pitcher. Also, his percentage showed 15 games won against 11 lost, which also is not very tepid twirling for $16,000, the price of potatoes being what they are.

But it is a safe bet that Vance will find something in the figures with which to confound any Cardinal maneuver to cut his pay.

Two years ago, he demanded $25,000 from Brooklyn, which countered with a proposal of $17,500. Uncle Wilbert Robinson used to argue the matter over pleasantly with Vance when the big fellow, in golfing togs with sky-blue stockings, would visit the old Dodger training base at Clearwater.

IT WAS SO DIFFERENT

In the year before Vance's earned run average had been 2.61, which is a fine and dandy earned run average, and the Dazzer had won 17 games against 15 lost, which is a lot of labor for any pitcher, the old boy having worked in 259 innings.

"Better sign," was Uncle Robbie's advice. "You won't stand for any more monkey business from you fellows. Look at my earned run average," was Dazzy's invariable reply. "And didn't I pack 'em in in Brooklyn and every place on the road?"

Vance stayed out that year until the team was on the way north. He met the club in Macon, Uncle Robbie called in the photographer, and Dazzy signed for $25,000.

But Dazzy didn't do $25,000 worth of pitching in 1931. He won 11 games, against 15 lost, and his earned run average per game mounted to 3.27. He didn't have the figures to fight with, nor did he have Uncle Robbie to argue with.

It had been fun arguing with Uncle Robbie, who usually gave in, but Dazzy found Max Carey a different kind of tomato.

BOXER HAD TO DIE TO PROVE HONESTY, VIEW

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(INS)—All that now remains of Ernie Schaaf, the pugilist, was lowered into the earth in Wrentham, Mass., today—to his friends, a martyr, a man exalted; to others, just the body of another prize fighter, an object of suspicion who had to die to prove his honesty.

For my part, the suggestion of a conspiracy was farcical from the moment the man fell senseless to the ring floor one week ago tonight, never to rise again. He died in the hospital early last Tuesday some hours after an emergency operation had removed a blood clot from his brain.

Not until the operation did the skeptics begin to accept Schaaf's condition for what it so obviously was. Not even then did they wholly abandon the theory that Schaaf had been injured by some unaccountable blunder in the midst of a cunning plot to defraud and hoodwink the public. Not even now it is altogether clear to them that the man is dead, not because he intentionally gave too little of himself against Primo Carnera, but because consciously and very gallantly he gave all.

I blushed for those skeptics when first the enormity of their error was established. I shiver for them now.

For martyr Schaaf was and is, spiritually gibbeted and left to bleach in the sun by those who now take what comfort they can from the fact that the man they attacked no longer can return to prove how viciously wrong they were. Their version, distorted, perverted, so ironically grotesque, is nevertheless safe. The truth about the Carnera-Schaaf prize fight is commonplace enough.

But it died with Schaaf.

CAUSE OF SCHAAF DEATH TO BE TOLD MONDAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(INS)—Although the commission indicated it had closed its investigation into Ernie Schaaf's death, a microscopic examination of the fighter's brain was to be made today. Chief Medical Examiner Charles Norris said the autopsy surgeon's report on the cause of death would be completed today and would be made public Monday.

The district attorney's office will not stand up its investigation until the findings of the medical examiner is received. Assistant District Attorney James J. Daly, conducting the inquiry, wants to question Jack Sharkey, co-manager and tutor of Schaaf.

Meanwhile Dr. Philip Goodhart, who started a controversy by declaring Schaaf's blows had resulted from blows received in his fight with Carnera, changed his mind and admitted an old injury might have caused his death.

BOXER IS BURIED UNDER BLANKET OF SNOW

WRENTHAM, Mass., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Ernie Schaaf was laid to rest in a village graveyard today, a week after his knockout by Primo Carnera.

In the presence of his sorrowing family, neighbors, friends and former associates, and celebrities of the boxing world, the handsome young blond heavyweight was buried under a blanket of snow and flowers in St. Mary's cemetery.

Previously there were prayers at the white cottage home which he bought for his mother out of his prize ring earnings; and a solemn high mass of requiem at St. Mary's Catholic church, where he had been a faithful communicant.

Among the mourners were Heavyweight Champion Jack Sharkey and his manager, Johnny Ruesay, who together owned Schaaf's contract; Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden matchmaker; John J. Phelan, of the New York Athletic commission; and Phil Schlossberg, Schaaf's first manager.

At the grave there was a salute by a firing squad from the Boston navy yard, where Schaaf once was attached as a sailor.

Heaped in profusion on the grave were floral tributes, among them a blanket of old rose carnations from the boxer's mother, Mrs. Lucy Schaaf, like those he used to send her after every ring victory; a monster wreath containing 4000 sweet peas from Sharkey; and a $150 cross, six-feet high and four feet wide, of roses, orchids, lilies and violets, bearing a satin ribbon inscribed "with the deepest of sympathy—Primo Carnera."

JACK MIKE-SHY

Jack Dempsey, for all of his ring wars in the public eye, was just a little bit nervous—and his face seems to show it—when he faced the microphone in his old home town of Denver the other day. He talked about fights, and this and that.

ORANGE LEAGUE CAGERS FINISH RACE TONIGHT

Unless all signs fail, a triple tie for first place will exist tomorrow in the Orange league, which winds up its official 1932 basketball schedule tonight.

Orange, San Juan Capistrano and Brea-Olinda are deadlocked for the leadership as the program enters its final round. San Juan Capistrano has the toughest of the three games, meeting Tustin at Tustin. Bill Cole's Farmers might upset Coach Stan Gould's Missionaries, but the Capistrano quintet is a heavy favorite.

Orange should have no trouble against Newport Harbor, and Huntington Beach does not figure to give Brea more than a mild workout on the Brea floor.

Standings:

Orange League Standings	L	W
San Juan Capistrano	5	3
Orange	5	3
Brea-Olinda	5	3
Tustin	2	6
Huntington Beach	3	3
Anaheim	1	5
Garden Grove	1	5
Newport Harbor	0	6

BROWN, GOLF STAR, HURT IN CAR CRASH

HONOLULU, T.H., Feb. 17.—(INS)—Francis Brown, member of the territorial legislature and noted amateur golf champion, was in a critical condition today and his companion, Marion D. Little of Seattle, was dead, victims of an automobile crash here last night.

Miss Little, a sister of Attorney Herbert Little of Seattle, was instantly killed when Brown's car crashed into a taxicab.

Brown is widely known on the mainland where he participated in many tournaments.

CAMPBELL WILL GO AFTER MARK MONDAY

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell plans to make his first 1933 attempt at a new record for land speed Monday, he announced today.

Sir Malcolm planned a test run in his Bluebird Sunday. If conditions permit, he will swallow an aspirin Monday and try to better his own world record of 253.968 miles an hour.

CORBETT ODDS DROP AS FIELDS IMPROVES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—(UP)—Odds of 2 to 1 favoring Young Corbett, undefeated Fresno challenger, over Jackie Fields, world welterweight champion, showed signs today of dropping to 10 to 7 before the two fighters meet at Seals' stadium next Wednesday.

Although Fields failed to impress critics in workouts last week, he went through a fast four-round workout yesterday that resulted in increased respect for his punching ability.

Corbett, unbeaten in five years, probably will remain a favorite at the ringside because he won a decision over the champion in a non-title bout three years ago.

DON SOPHS BAG 20-POINT LEAD IN CLASS MEET

More than 20 points in the lead, thanks of Captain Jim Daneri and Fred Brooks, the sophomores were "in" as Santa Ana Junior college's 1933 interclass track champions today, as the upperclassmen prepared for their seven remaining events with the freshmen at Poly field. Score after eight events: Sophomores, 48; Freshmen, 24.

Favored to win most of the events on today's program, the sophomores should finish approximately 40 points ahead of their younger brothers after the 220, 880, mile, high hurdles, pole vault, discuss and relay.

The Dons did not break any individual records yesterday, but their showing in several events was considered remarkable in proportion to the short time Coach Bill Cook's candidates have been training.

Sophomore Brooks, holder of the Orange Empire conference record of 15 seconds in the high hurdles, ran the 100 in 20.1 seconds to place ahead of Bill Bouldin and Mike Vidal, sophomore transfer from Modesto junior college. Fred Bell, a 10.3 candidate, finished fourth. Brooks also tied for first in the low hurdles and took second in the broad jump.

Inconsistent in his trials, which started around 165 feet, Captain Daneri won the javelin with one good toss of 190. His mark came within 2 feet, 1 inch of the college record which he set at Taft last season. Daneri made 19 points, placing first in the broad jump at 18.3; first in the shot at 38.9; and tied for first in the 120-yard low hurdles in 13.5 seconds. He was favored to win the discuss and to place high jump.

Harold Clem, freshman, leaped 5-10 to win the high jump. With a speedy finish, Rhodes Finley nosed out Watts and Traylor in the 440, and Jim Tawney, sophomore, breasted the tape a few inches ahead of Bill Campbell in the mile.

The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Brooks (Soph); Bouldin (Fresh) second; Vidal (Soph) third. Time, 10.1 sec.

440-yard dash—Won by Finley (Soph); Watts (Fresh) second; Traylor (Soph) third. Time, 55.9 sec.

120-yard low hurdles—Tied for first place between Brooks (Soph) and Daneri (Soph); Hoar (Fresh) third. Time, 13.5 sec.

Broad jump—Won by Daneri (Soph), 18 ft. 3 in.; Brooks (Soph) second, 19 ft. 2 in.; Arundell (Fresh) third, 18 ft. 6 in.

High jump—Won by Clem (Fresh), 5 ft. 10 in.; Laurensen (Soph) and Muselman (Fresh) tied for second, 5 ft. 9 in.

Shot put—Won by Daneri (Soph), 34 ft. 9 in.; Nowotny (Fresh) third, 34 ft. 10 in.

Javelin—Won by Daneri (Soph), 190 feet; Clark (Fresh) second; Chamberlain (Fresh) third.

Point totals: Sophomores 48, Freshmen 24.

Corbett Walks, Smokes As Mourners Gasp

BAYSIDE, N. Y., Feb. 17.—(UP)—Former Heavyweight Champion James J. Corbett has "the most amazing determination and physical stamina of any human being," John Kelleher, a watcher at his bedside, said today in reporting Corbett's condition unchanged.

Corbett has been seriously ill with a heart ailment for weeks. Yesterday he amazed attendants by getting out of bed, walking about the room, and smoking a cigar.

CHRIS SANTOS. WANA TOP NEW CARD AT DELHI

The two stars of last week's card have been matched to box in the Orange County Athletic club's next main event.

Bill Wana, winner of ten straight at Delhi, will meet hard-hitting Chris Santos, Wana trimmed Frank Barrago last Tuesday on the same card that Santos featured by knocking out Bill French.

Matchmaker Kid Mexico believes his attraction is a local "natural" and that it will outdraw last week's show which did considerable business.

Heavyweight Harry Sweet, young Brea gladiator who made an impressive Delhi debut by beating Sal Panaja, moves into the semi-final against "Smoky" Banks, Los Angeles Negro 190-pounder.

Other bouts:

Reggie Kerr, Anaheim, vs. George Wilton, Los Angeles; 165 pounds; Charles Nunez, El Rio, vs. Baby Sal Solis, Delhi, 125 pounds;

ISSUE WARNING ON BOGUS BANK CASHIER CHECKS

Following an experience a local wrecking concern here had several days ago, a warning was sent out today to be on the lookout for bogus bank cashier checks.

A man appeared at the Pacific Plumbing and Wrecking company at 1808 West Fifth street and said he wanted to purchase 1000 feet of one and a quarter inch pipe. The price of $75.20 was made him and the pipe was to be delivered to Laguna Beach.

Mack Kaplovich, operator of the company, grew suspicious at such an order of small pipe and made a special trip to Laguna Beach to verify the address given him. He found it to be a fake address, so the pipe was not delivered.

The man however, how given Kaplovich a cashier's check for $75 for the pipe and had received in cash the change amount to $4.80. The check, on a Chicago bank, was really a cashier's check that had been stolen in the bank. It was learned after it had been deposited here and returned from Chicago.

The program also provides a code of ethics for distribution of the surplus and provides contracts for the distribution and division of costs.

BETTER FILMS ASSOCIATION DIRECTOR REVIEWS REPORTS OF STUDIES BY SCIENTISTS

BY CRAWFORD TROTTER

Director, Better Films Association of Orange County

A hypnograph hitched to a child's bed accurately measures how sleep is affected by a visit to the movies, and how far nerves have been whipped to a raw edge when youth returns from the cinema house, according to a series of articles recently appearing in McCall's magazine.

The articles purport to be the summary of a strictly scientific survey of the physiological effects of present-day motion pictures upon childhood. They are based on the research of the Payne Fund workers and disregard any emotional approach or moral issue.

Physicians have connected the wires of the hypnograph to the beds of 170 children for 343 nights and sat up all night in another room to watch the little pen-point register the fitfulness of sleep under all sorts and degrees of pleasure stimulation that had been provided earlier in the evening. The movies ranked the blackest mark because they cost a boy an average of a little more than an hour of sleep, and a girl exactly one hour of total wakefulness for the night.

Recommend Selection
Whether the picture be good or bad, it always detracts from the healthful quality of children's sleep is claimed as an established fact by the Renshaw investigation. None of the scientists advocate denial of the movies to the children.

While hypnographs were measuring the effect of movies on sleep and Ohio State University professors gathered statistics of juvenile attendance, two scientists of Iowa University were rigging up galvanometers in whole rows of seats in cinema cathedrals. The managers of the theaters gave hearty cooperation. There can be no question of the accuracy of their findings is the belief of Henry James Forman, author of the series of articles.

If the boys and girls informed their parents that kissing and love-making in the films was "just silly" the galvanometer betraying their disdain as a pose. Even tiny folk like the nine-year-olds ran up a high graph record about equal to the adults. The 18-year-olds of both sexes jumped the indicator just twice as much as their parents during the screening of such scenes.

The Ohio investigators were concerned by the fact that considerably over one-third of the kiddies that attended the movies in that state were accompanied only by little playmates of their own age. There is one crumb of comfort for parents resulting from the thorough research concerning the measured results of seeing movies. They positively do not hurt the eyesight.

Seeing "nature in the raw" on the silver screen led 62 per cent of high school boys and girls to imitate their favorite stars. Of this group just one-half admitted they had tried out love techniques in their imitations. Some of them were frank enough to add that the methods were far from successful. The chief of the constructive suggestions is that parents take a sympathetic supervision and assist young folks in selecting the proper time and number of attendances at the theater, an intelligent selection of the type of film.

LIFE INSURANCE As An Investment in DOLLARS

Since 1900 there have been eight major "Bull Markets" and eight major "Bear Markets." Bull Markets last for about two years, Bear Markets last for about a year and a half. Thus, on the average, property goes through eight swings up and down during the course of the thirty years, which is the average accumulation period of the average man. If his investments are in property, he suffers along with the rest of the investors who are unprotected. If a substantial portion of his investments are in LIFE INSURANCE CONTRACTS, he is sure of every dollar he has saved plus a better compound interest return than he himself could get less of course, the small cost of the self completing features of his investment.

SANTIAGO ORANGE GROWERS HAVE NET RETURNS TOTALING $1,154,025; SHIP 1810 CARS

Net returns to growers affiliated with the Santiago Orange Growers' association for the past season totaled $1,154,025 and cash receipts $1,449,912, according to a report given yesterday by Robert E. Gross, secretary and manager, at the annual meeting held at the Orange Intermediate school. The association has 373 members with approximately 4500 acres.

In his report Gross stated that the 1932 season's production of fruit was the largest in the history of the association. The volume of fruit handled has only been exceeded in one previous year, 1929, when pickings were nearly five per cent greater. Field boxes totaling 1,398,347 were handled this year. After the deduction of a normal cullage and reducing the loose fruit left to packed boxes, and adding to actual shipments, show your association with a total packed box equivalent output of 1810 carloads of 482 boxes.

"Net returns to growers are nine per cent less than the previous season. Packed box average to the grower on Valencia is $1.47 and on navel 95 cents. Field box average on Valencia including every box delivered to the house is 76 cents; however, please bear in mind and do not forget when thinking of returns on the basis of field boxes that your house has the smallest box in the district; other boxes being from eight per cent to twenty per cent larger.

Loose Fruit

"Of the loose fruit or cullage throughout about two-thirds was sold loose and the balance dumped and disposed of for the by-products plant. Such fruit was taken out of trade channels, and was certainly a wise move as it eliminated a lot of low grade fruit from the local markets, permitting the exchange and all shippers to secure a little money for the fruit that was sold loose. Had all shippers followed the same procedure and taken out of the market a similar percentage of their loose fruit, considerable returns could have been made to the growers for that class of fruit.

"Expenses in all departments are less on a box basis, than the previous year. All costs were reduced with the exception of transportation, public utility items, taxes and those expenses not under our control. It is very evident that the reduction of expenses under our authority to the very minimum cannot along put the orange business on a profit-

CAPT. PERIGORD SAYS AMERICA MISSED CHANCE

Criticizing America's aloofness from Europe, Capt. Paul Perigord, member of the faculty of the University of California at Los Angeles, spoke on the subject, "Latest Developments in the European Situation," before members of the Elementary Principals and Teachers Association of Orange County last night in Memorial hall, Huntington Beach.

The speaker declared that the United States had been smart enough to win the World war but had not been smart enough to hold its friends in Europe. He said this nation had failed to gain the benefits of prestige and power that was its lot at the close of the war.

"President Wilson," he declared, "would, within 50 or 100 years, be classed as one of the nation's greatest heroes, although his plans in regard to Europeans were not followed by the United States.

"What you could expect except what you are getting now, the results of mistakes made after the war? You did not learn from the older and cultured nations of Europe and paid no heed to the scientific facts that had been developed there."

About 200 attended the dinner and about 100 guests came afterwards to enjoy the entertainment program. C. H. Baldwin, superintendent of elementary schools in Huntington Beach, presided at the banquet.

The opening number of the entertainment program was a comic opera, "Cleopatra," staged by the Men's chorus with Mrs. Ruth Edna Warner playing the piano accompaniment. The cast included R. M. Elliott, Lloyd Hamren, Fred Brooke, Fred Hawley, L. E. Worthy and Byrd D. Harver.

Sixth grade school clubs of the elementary school gave three numbers with John Pantoga at the piano and Miss Frances Van Horn directing.

"LADIES NIGHT" AT TOASTMASTERS CLUB

Members of the Toastmasters' club observed "ladies night" at the regular session Wednesday.

This popular Y. M. C. A. club, meeting at Ketter's cafe, entertained with a typical program of speeches, to which they added some entertaining features in honor of the guests. The tables were attractively decorated in recognition of the patriotic implications of the Lincoln and Washington birthdays, and the same theme was presented in a stirring speech by Arthur Woodworth on "The Spirit of America," and in the patriotic songs introduced in the group singing.

Harry LeBarb spoke entertainingly on "Glass." Dwight Hamilton discussed "The Good Old Times" in a manner that reflected credit on the present, and Nelson Visel showed discrimination in a well received speech on "Women". The ladies were formally welcomed by E. H. Lawver, and the position of toastmaster was ably filled by William Iverson. Walter J. Ferris acted as general critic of the evening, and Frederick Eley represented Toastmasters International.

A. G. Green is president of the Toastmasters club, and Dr. E. L. Russell is vice president. The nominating committee, which will bring in its report next Wednesday, suggesting the names of new officers, consists of Frederick Eley, Dean Campbell and B. H. Lawver.

Speech Teacher Goes To Valley

Mrs. Amy Galeener Miller, who for two years has been a member of the Santa Ana school system, teaching correction of defective speech among children of primary grades, but who was released last year when that phase of school work was discontinued, has resumed kindergarten work in the El Centro schools.

In returning to that position, Mrs. Miller completed a circle, since she had organized the first kindergarten in El Centro just 17 years ago. Returning to the southern city to make her home, Mrs. Miller has established herself in the Princess hotel, according to word received by Santa Ana friends.

GOODWILL WORK IN SANTA ANA CONSOLIDATED

In an economy move, the board of directors of the Goodwill Industries of Orange county has decided to combine the Goodwill store at 411 West Fourth street with the main store located at 2139 South Main street, it was announced today by J. Winterbourne, superintendent.

While the Goodwill Industries have been able to render considerable assistance to the unemployed and handicapped of the county during the past eight years, the depression has had an effect on the institution, and officials regret inability to meet all demands upon them.

About $14,000 was paid out to local people in wages during the past 12 months while $4685 has been paid on rent, lights, gas, telephones and incidentals. A total of $18,685.32 was paid out during the past 12 months with an average of 24 families receiving a meager support from this source.

The work of the institution will be carried on from the Main street store, which with the Anaheim store, will continue to serve the public to the limit of its ability, officials said.

"The amount of service this institution will be able to render must of necessity be governed by the support of the good people of Orange county." Superintendent Winterbourne said today, "both in the contribution of Goodwill bags and furniture and by the sale of reconditioned goods from the stores. There is no other source of income except the few small cash offerings which come in from time to time by friends desiring to have a part in the work."

DEFENDANT VICTOR IN DAMAGE ACTION

After a delay while attorneys for Horace E. Wood, suing S. Kagawa for damages totalling $11,518.25 debated the employment of a Japanese interpreter, Superior Judge H. G. Ames gave judgment Wednesday in favor of Kagawa.

The case was delayed at the beginning when Roland Thompson, Santa Ana attorney representing Kagawa, presented Goro Nakamura as interpreter. Tudor Gairdner, Wood's attorney, objected to Nakamura on the grounds that Nakamura, who is a graduate law student and serves as a court interpreter in Los Angeles, had acted for Kagawa in securing an attorney to defend the action. An interpreter was finally secured through the district attorney's office on request of Judge Ames.

Wood sued Kagawa for $10,000 actual damages and $1518.25 special damages, for injuries alleged to have been received when his automobile was involved in a collision April 21, 1932, with another car driven by Kagawa. The crash occurred near Stanton, Wood, who is a truck driver, alleged that he received a fractured skull and permanent injuries to his left leg.

The accident occurred when the two cars collided at Third and Main streets yesterday.

Hendershot was taken to his home.

Three persons were reported injured at 7:40 p. m. Wednesday at First and Artesia streets when two cars collided. They were being driven at the time by Douglas McAdam of Huntington Beach, Route No. 1 and Peter John Radevon, an employee of the Orange county hospital.

Radevon, McAdam and a passenger in the McAdam machine, George Forquhar of Huntington Beach, route No. 1, were cut and bruised about the head and face, according to a report filed with the city police department.

'BERKELEY SQUARE' OPENS TONIGHT AT EBELL; UNUSUAL SOUND EFFECTS PROVIDED

Have any of us who live today in the era of swift motor cars traveling on noiseless rubber over streets as smooth as a floor, any idea of the sound made by a stagecoach rattling and bumping along over cobblestones?

That was the problem which scenery committee members of the Community Players' association had to work on in planning sound effects for "Berkeley Square," association production to have its opening tonight in Ebell auditorium. Just how did a stagecoach sound? They experimented in many ways and with divers effects before they got the sound for which they listened. But those who saw last night's final dress rehearsal, felt that they had scored a success, for the results of their work were so convincing, that it seemed an ancient vehicle must have passed just off stage.

"Double" Rehearsal

As a dress rehearsal for the members of the cast, the evening was highly successful, according to Gladys Simpson Shafer, production director. But it was no less successful as a "dress rehearsal" for inanimate objects in the play, according to Mrs. Marshall Harnois, technical director. Candles shed the soft light of the eighteenth century, be-dimmed and be-curved wigs glowed in that radiance, and the whole stage setting presented a picture of serene charm.

In the wings, the "rehearsal" was no less effective as winds whistled eerily, rains beat against the panes and thunder sounded its ominous roar. And the outstanding thing about these varied sound effects, so essential to the plot development of "Berkeley Square," were all planned and worked out by the scenery committee. Members of the cast were so fascinated by the apparatus constructed by the scenery workers that they spent every available minute apart from their roles, inspecting it, making the winds blow, the rain beat, and the thunder roar.

Despite their preoccupation with the mechanical effects, the Players gave a smooth performance before the night's rehearsal came to a close, and everyone connected with the production, feels that the public will have as great a treat in store tonight and tomorrow night, as they had at the first play of the season, "The Swan."

PLEADS GUILTY TO FORGERY CHARGE

Harry Jessup, 42, Santa Ana, charged with forgery on two counts, one a misdemeanor, the other a felony, was in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court Wednesday, where he pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge. Time for pronouncement of judgment was set for February 17 at 9 a. m. Bail of $250 was demanded which he did not make.

On the felony count, that of issuing a fictitious check for $60, on which the Commercial National bank here is the complaining witness, he pleaded not guilty. Arraignment was set for February 21 and bail of $1500 was demanded which was not made.

On the misdemeanor charge, the complaining witness is E. K. Gearhart and the check amounted to $5.

DEFENDANT VICTOR IN DAMAGE ACTION

After a delay while attorneys for Horace E. Wood, suing S. Kagawa for damages totalling $11,518.25 debated the employment of a Japanese interpreter, Superior Judge H. G. Ames gave judgment Wednesday in favor of Kagawa.

The case was delayed at the beginning when Roland Thompson, Santa Ana attorney representing Kagawa, presented Goro Nakamura as interpreter. Tudor Gairdner, Wood's attorney, objected to Nakamura on the grounds that Nakamura, who is a graduate law student and serves as a court interpreter in Los Angeles, had acted for Kagawa in securing an attorney to defend the action. An interpreter was finally secured through the district attorney's office on request of Judge Ames.

Wood sued Kagawa for $10,000 actual damages and $1518.25 special damages, for injuries alleged to have been received when his automobile was involved in a collision April 21, 1932, with another car driven by Kagawa. The crash occurred near Stanton, Wood, who is a truck driver, alleged that he received a fractured skull and permanent injuries to his left leg.

FOUR INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Four persons were reported injured in two automobile accidents in Santa Ana yesterday and Wednesday night. Roy Hendershot, of Santa Ana Gardens, suffered an injured ankle and hand when the car he was driving collided with a machine operated by J. C. Converse, of Compton. The accident occurred when the two cars collided at Third and Main streets yesterday.

Hendershot was taken to his home.

Three persons were reported injured at 7:40 p. m. Wednesday at First and Artesia streets when two cars collided. They were being driven at the time by Douglas McAdam of Huntington Beach, Route No. 1 and Peter John Radevon, an employee of the Orange county hospital.

Long Beach Selected
As Scene of Quiet
Wedding Rites

By selecting Long Beach as the scene of their quiet wedding yesterday afternoon, Miss Miriam Adanson and Frederick J. McMillan staged a little surprise on the host of interested friends who have been anticipating their nuptials as a Santa Ana event ever since announcement of their betrothal was made over a year ago.

Dr. Taubman of the Long Beach First Christian church, conducted the rites, for which the simplicity of the single ring service was employed. Only immediate members of the family were bidden to the ceremony, conducted at 4:30 o'clock in Dr. Taubman's home.

Miss Adanson's loveliness found perfect setting in her gracefully draped gown of silver satin, worn with a quaint little hat of silver straw, slippers and gloves in a more pronounced shade of gray, and a corsage bouquet of white gardenias. The "something old" so dear to tradition, was represented by the handkerchief of priceless Irish lace, once carried by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Rachel Adanson, whose advanced age of 84 years, made it impossible for her to come from her Canadian home for the nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. William Adanson Jr., of Oceanside, at whose wedding reception the announcement was made of Miss Adanson's betrothal to Mr. McMillan, were attendants for the young couple. Mrs. Adanson wore a diaphanous gown of flowered chiffon whose dominant tones were yellow, a color repeated in the sweet pea corsage she wore.

Returning to this city the new Mr. and Mrs. McMillan were complimented at a wedding supper in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Adanson, 1617 North Ross street. The home was fragrant with sweet peas in delicate hues, but in the dining room where the buffet supper was served, everything was in bridal white. Hyacinths were the flowers used in conjunction with many tall candles, while the table service in harmony with the theme. Mrs. McMillan made a charming ceremony of cutting the snowy bride's cake which the menu was completed.

The young people are deferring a honeymoon trip until early summer months and so went directly to the home awaiting them in North Long Beach, where the array of beautiful bridal and shower gifts will be given place. Mr. McMillan is assistant manager of a Long Beach Standard Oil station. Guests at the nuptials and the bride's supper included Mr. and Mrs. William Adanson, parents of the bride; Mrs. Edith McMillan, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. William Adanson Jr., Oceanside; Earle Adanson, Lloyd McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Phil McLane and daughter Jean of Inglewood; Miss Katherine Akers of Orange; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Solomon.

Hostesses Entertain With Shower For Bride-Elect

Miss Elsie Pague, fiancée of Carl McCullah, was honored at a charming affair given recently by her friends at her home near Santa Ana. A red and white theme, suggestive of St. Valentine's day, was used in decorating. Mrs. R. Pague and Mrs. P. L. McCullah joined with Mrs. Walker in entertaining. A variety of games interested the guests for the early part of the evening. A pleasant feature was the presentation of an appropriately decorated basket heaped high with gifts to Miss Pague.

At the close of the evening, refreshments were served on individual trays appointed in red and white.

Those present, other than the honored guest, Miss Pague, were Mesdames Charles Hughes, A. C. Rush, L. Watson, Marshall, Epperly, Warren Holcomb, P. C. Planchon, Collins, Moore, Barnett, J. A. Blackwell, G. T. Cordell, H. W. Pague, Patterson, Dunkin, R. McCullah, Wilson, J. A. Swafford, R. McCullah and their ogress group, Mrs. R. Pague, Mrs. F. L. McCullah and Mrs. Walker.

To Tahiti Film,
Lecture

Motion pictures of Tahiti which displayed to spectacular advantage the island mountains, coral reefs and beautiful lagoons, the native dancing, preparations for feasting and for entertainment for white visitors, were shown an interested audience of Junior Ebbl Travel section members and guests in Ebbl clubhouse Wednesday night. The pictures were accompanied by explanatory comment, offered by the cameraman, H. L. Sherman of this city and Newport Beach.

Pictures showing the beautiful colored fish abounding in the island lagoons and a shot of Zane Gray sword fishing off the coast of New Zealand were following bits in the film, while Mr. Sherman's relation of his experiences while in Tahiti proved equally enjoyable.

Miss Louise Young and Miss Wilma Plavan were hostesses, welcoming as guests Mrs. H. J. Forgy and Messrs Victor Rees, Robert Lancaster and Aubrey Gilmer. Members attending were the Misses Mary Andrews, Frances Egge, Mary Safely, Lolita Med, Dorothy Forgy; Mesdames Lynn Crawford, Robert Lancaster, Aubrey Gilmer, Ralph Livenesspire, Clarence McFaddin, E. Three Speakers Address
Garden Section on Flowers

Ebbl Garden enthusiasts' knowledge of their hobby was more extensive today as the result of a program presented before the section in Ebbl clubhouse yesterday afternoon which ranged in topic from the proper arrangement of flowers to a tracing of the Blue Myrtle vine to its ancient ritualistic uses. These studies followed a luncheon for members and guests for which hostess roles were filled by Mrs. W. W. Kays and Mrs. Edward Walker.

First of the speakers was Mrs. J. W. Beach of the Bouquet shop, whose demonstration of the best arrangement of blooms was illustrated with a basket of spring flowers and roses. Decorations for the table were dwelt upon at special length. A talk on Pillar roses, in which the varieties adapted to this culture, the pruning required to form such a rose, and the adaptability of the Pillar rose to formal and to small gardens were discussed, was given by Mrs. A. Cruickshank. The varying uses to which the Blue Myrtle vine has been applied, from the early days of Jewish history when it was employed at religious ceremonies, to the present day, when it is found all over the world, principally as a bank covering, were described in an interesting talk covered by Mrs. Margaret Robertson.

Needle Club Observes
Double Anniversary

Gifts were exchanged as valentines between women of the Flying Needle club when this group gathered in the home of Mrs. Bernard Snee, 829 North Parton street, Wednesday. The meeting served as a means of celebrating two anniversaries, Valentine day and the natal day of Mrs. Errol Barnes, one of the members of the club. Table decorations emphasized the former theme.

Members of the club have begun on a third layette, having finished their second complete layette for a Santa Ana family. Two guests were Mrs. B. Dunham and Mrs. A. Ohman, mother of the hostess.

Joining in presenting Mrs. Barnes with a lovely birthday gift were Mesdames Bernard Snee, Frank Brown, Elizabeth Erickson, F. W. Berendson, William Kintz and Miss Verena Bailey.

Sorority Members Join
In Social Events of Pleasant Aspect

One of the pleasantest of the many parties inspired by the valentine season was a bridge evening affair at which Miss Eloise Wright complimented her sister members of Sigma Tau Phi sorority, welcoming them to her home, 401 Cannon drive, Fullerton.

Appointments for the card tables brought the valentine motif into prominence, and again when bridge prizes were awarded, the gifts in their shining cellophane wrappings, were like great scarlet valentines. They were presented - Miss Mary Reid and Miss Beth Westcott, holders of first and second high scores.

Perhaps the most original effect of the evening was achieved in table decorations for the supper hour. For each card table, spread with white linen, had scarlet cutouts applied to give the effect of the gay lace and garland valentines so dear to sentimental hearts. Slender scarlet candles rising from pompons of cellophane, provided light, and at each place was a dainty favor, also in red cellophane wrappings. The heart motif appeared in molded salads, tiny hot biscuits, and even in a beautiful cake with the sorority's name traced in red icing.

Miss Wright's guests included Mrs. Roy Griset, Mrs. Winston Hoyle, and the Misses Betty Barkman, Lucille Conaway, Alice Hanson, Alice Majors, Doris Goff, Lucy Holmes, Jean House, Louise Leck, Mary Emil Majors, Jean Peacock, Mary Read, Betty Rowland, Jean Rowland, Agnes Wheeler, Virginia Berry, Beth Dickinson, Anne Tarver, Beth Westcott, Jeanette Lewis, Gladys Marguerat, Allida Windas, Winnie Edington and Zoe Quiggle.

Earlier Function

To express the interest and pride which Sigma Tau Phi members feel in Miss Lucille Conaway's success as soloist on the famous Biltmore supper dance programs, they staged a recent party at the Biltmore, to be present when Miss Conaway entered the semi-finals in an elimination contest open to prominent young girls of the Southland.

There were some ten entrants in this semi-final event in which the charming young Santa Anan placed and she will appear in the finals at an early date. Sharing her triumph, the sorority members and their guests had a special table at the supper dance, to let her know of their deep interest in the results. Sigma Tau Phi members present were the Misses Lucy Holmes, Alice Majors, Jean House, Louise Leck, Mary Emil Majors, Betty Barkman, Mary Read, Agnes Wheeler, Mary Emil Majors, Betty Barkman, Betty Rowland, Jean Rowland, Eloise Wright, Jean Peacock, Louise Leck, Doris Goff, Beth Westcott, Mrs. Winston Hoyle and the honoree, Miss Conaway.

Their guests were Messrs. Frank Hilliges, Eric Borchard, "Dutch" Smeltzer, Winston Hoyle, Stanley Wheeler, Kenneth Harbert, Bill Hewitt, Clay Brumington, Ned Phillips, Hamilton Smith, Charles Orant, Bob Gardner, Howard Hale, Gordon Minter, Bruce Vegely and Don Harwood.

Section Women Indulge

Psychology of Jazz
Interpreted by Maurice Zam

Philosophy and psychology, two words not ordinarily confused with jazz, were discussed in relation to this music form by Maurice Zam, concert pianist of international reputation now residing in Santa Ana, at a meeting of Phi Zeta music sorority Wednesday night. The sorority met with Mrs. Frances Beeson, 1121 Oak street.

The evolution of jazz, the features distinguishing it from its ragtime predecessor, recurring cycles of themes discoverable in jazz favorites of succeeding periods, and the derivation of jazz terms were discussed by the pianist. Applying more specific musical terms to the two forms considered, Mr. Zam cited ragtime as "homophonic" and jazz as "polyphonic." The pianist's extensive musical knowledge and his enthusiastic interest in the psychology of his art were brought into full play in his analysis of American post-war music.

Likewise present as a guest of the Santa Ana pianist, other guests including Mrs. Clarence Gustlin, Mrs. L. G. Swales and Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar.

Sorority members enjoying the address were Miss Dorothy Mayhew, president; Miss Evelyn Metzgar, Miss Georgia Walton, Mesdames Maxine Bryte, Juanita Park, Raymond G. Smith, Pearl Hyde, Blanche Owen, Frances Beeson and Mrs. Florence Tozier of Los Angeles.

BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon
Two cupsful of Swedish ham
broth

Salad with mineral oil mayonnaise: 1 sliced orange; heart of lettuce; 3 balls of cottage cheese. Pot of clear tea, no sugar. Calory total 365.

Ham broth is not always on hand for the dieter's use, but when it is, use it. At other times use vegetable soup, or clam broth made with skim milk. Cream soups are absolutely taboo in these Eat and Grow Slim diets.

The salad in this menu uses cottage cheese for the tissue building food, oranges and lettuce for their vitamins, cleansing mineral elements, and because they fill up the stomach and provide the type of roughage the average adult so badly needs.

If clear tea is obnoxious, there will be no objection on my part to the use of skim milk with the hot tea. But no sugar, remember! The Mexicans have a word that covers all their sins of omission most efficiently. This word is "mamana," meaning some other time—tomorrow.

Are you a user of this word, mamana, in sticking to a diet? If you are you might just as well get off the diet, and go a.w.o.l. on a food riot, for the little slip of this, and the bite of that make an alarming sum total at the end of the day, enough to nullify the most drastic diet ever put together. Do not add a mouthful of anything, especially bread, to this diet. It is planned to do exactly certain things, and will if you give it a chance.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Tomato and Egg Salad
(Six servings)
6 hard boiled eggs
6 small tomatoes
hearts from two heads of lettuce

6 cottage cheese balls
4 walnut meats for cheese balls
French dressing
I know of few salads as decorative as this one. Right now you must depend on hot house tomatoes but the price is not prohibitive. They are small and numerous to the pound, ideal for salads and for broiling with chops.

Have the eggs cooked and chilled for several hours. Scald, peel, and chill tomatoes of uniform size.
Season one-half cup of cottage cheese with celery and garlic salt. Form into small balls and roll the balls in finely chopped walnuts. Chill well.

Run water through the two heads of lettuce to loosen up leaves. Take out only the yellow tender centers and separate in a bowl of ice water. Shake well before using.

Pick up leaves of lettuce and form into a bouquet, place each bouquet on its salad plate. Cut thin slice off the ends of the eggs, then with a sharp knife cut lengthwise almost to the opposite end, carefully spreading back to form the petals of a flower. Cut each tomato in the same fashion and place carefully in the center of the egg flower. In each tomato put a ball of cheese and before sending to the table dress with a good French dressing.

Calories? 250 per salad.

Membership Dinner is Pleasant Event for Legion Auxiliary

Another delightful affair has been added to the list of annual membership dinners given by Santa Ana Unit No. 131, American Legion auxiliary, since last night's function in Legion hall, where hospitality and friendliness were abetted by unusually interesting program features following the appetizing dinner.

In Receiving Line

Mrs. S. C. Hill, auxiliary president, and past presidents of the organization welcomed arriving guests, the receiving line including Mesdames Dean Collier, Andrew Lykke, Eugene Robinson, Edwin F. Matthews, H. H. Reeves, Edward L. Struble and Miss Louise Tubbs.

Mrs. John Turton, membership chairman; Mrs. Roy Butler, dinner committee chairman; Mrs. Harry Pickard, dining room chairman, and Mrs. Charles Nuss, table decorations, with their respective committees, were to be congratulated upon the success of their plans. Tables were beautiful with their silver-tipped scarlet candles, and bowls of peach blossoms, flowering quince and demure pussywillows. Honor guests received graceful corsage clusters of sweet peas, and found their places marked also by the cleverest of little valentine dancers.

In accordance with what has come to be an annual custom, Legion Drum Corps members served the dinner menu of three delicious courses, and guests remained at the tables for the formal program. Any disappointment at the failure of the state president to be present as principal speaker, was allayed when Judge J. B. Tucker consented to serve as substitute.

Witty Speaker

Characterized by a sparkling humor in its beginning, his talk developed into a discussion of points of law and legal observations, after he had asked auxiliary members to choose between that and an address upon problems of present day government. In the chosen subject, he discussed such widely varying subjects as wills, divorce laws, and purchases from agents, citing specific cases to intensify the interest of his audience.

Additional entertainment was found in music and in the readings given so cleverly by Miss Betty Joe Willis and by Delbert Stewart of Santa Ana Junior college. Miss Betty Joe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Willis, of Legion and auxiliary membership, gave the dainty "She Powders Her Nose" and "A Lesson With a Fan." Delbert Stewart's numbers were in highly diverting vein, "Dot Wedding Ceremony" and "Uncle Josh's Rheumatism."

The Junior College quartet, Martin Bowman, Rutherford Williams, William Fox and Mark Hare, with Duncan Harnois as accompanist, found the same delighted response accorded them on other appearances, when they sang "Copper Moon," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and the requested parody aria on "Rigoletto."

Features of general interest included telegrams from Mrs. Florence Smith, 21st district president, and Mrs. Beulah Curran, state chairman of co-operative sales, both of Anaheim, but now in San Francisco for a state board meeting, placed by Mrs. B. E. Kellogg and quitted by Legion Mothers' club, was awarded Mrs. Turton.

Coming Events

Announcements made by Mrs. Hill included the joint Legion and Auxiliary covered dish dinner Thursday night, February 22, in Legion hall; a welfare fund benefit bridge luncheon by the auxiliary on February 27, and a request for jig-saw puzzles to go to the government hospital.

Guests to whom special honors were extended included in addition to the speakers and entertainers and the past presidents of the auxiliary, Mrs. Enid Wilson, president of the County Council; Mrs. Alma McKay, president of the Mothers' club; Miss Dorothy Skinner, president of the Junior Auxiliary; Miss Minnie Besser, president of Ernest Kellogg auxiliary, V. F. W.; Mrs. Hazel Fishenden, president of Jack Fisher auxiliary, D. A. V.; Mrs. Anne Leimer, president of the Eight and Forty; Mrs. Marian Matthews, state Americanization chairman as well as a past president, and Blanche Young, state chairman of child welfare.

A Lovely Skin

IF YOU want cheeks like velvet, sparkling eyes, a fair skin, take the advice of Mrs. J. C. Hall of 172-4th St., San Bernardino. "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery" proved to be very beneficial to my daughter a few years ago. Her blood was thin, blotches and eruptions appeared on her skin, her appetite was poor and her health ran down generally. After taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery she picked up her strength and health and developed naturally. Sold by druggists everywhere. Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

Mrs. Walters Hostess
At Bridge Luncheon
Honoring Friend

Arranged in compliment to Mrs. J. G. Hartzell of Los Angeles, Mrs. Henry Walters of 1605 East Fourth street, recently issued invitations to a luncheon given in her home Tuesday afternoon.

Presenting the party on valentine day, the hostess adhered to the holiday theme in all details of her hospitality, the dining room offering gay evidence of this motif while in the living room yellow gladioluses and pink snapdragons elaborated upon the theme.

A session of bridge ensued after the luncheon, this entertainment being varied with vocal offerings by Mrs. G. W. Flattermeyer of San Diego, who sang two selections in honor of Mrs. Walters, whose birthday anniversary occurs tomorrow. The numbers were "Mary" and "Many Happy Returns of the Day." "TIGER SHARK" ON
AT WALKER STATE

Matching in dramatic power, thrill and suspense any picture Howard Hawks has ever directed, "Tiger Shark" opens today at Walker's State theater, starring Edward G. Robinson, with Richard Arlen and Zita Johann featured. "Tiger Shark" is a sensational drama of the tuna fisheries and the men who make their living in the shark-infested fishing grounds, far off the Mexican coast in the Pacific ocean. For the first time in the history of the screen, the hazards of the tuna fisherman's life are shown, with all the wealth of authentic realism made possible by the modern motion picture camera.

COMPARES LIFE AND MUSIC IN CLUB ADDRESS

ORANGE, Feb. 17.—Merle Watterman, "Y" secretary of San Luis Obispo, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties, was the speaker at the meeting of the Orange Rotary club Thursday. The speaker illustrated the difference between life as a symphony and life as jazz by playing both types of music.

Watterman in playing showed how popular music is founded for the most part on the classics. He declared that one composer had received $60,000 for combining Handel's Hallelujah chorus which "Bring Back My Bonnie to Me," a part of a chorus from the opera, "Bohemian Girl," and "Yes, We Have No Bananas Today."

"We are living in an interesting state," declared the speaker, "with jazz at one end of the scale and symphonies at the other. A survey has shown that there is more of jazz and also more symphonic music in California than in any other state in the union.

"California leads all states in the union in the sale of vulgar magazines and it leads in the sale of cultural magazines. The state is third from the top financially, the first in education and holds 32nd place morally, according to recent surveys."

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter:
"Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic."

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6811 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

slightly thickened. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 6. Serve with Orange Sauce.

Orange Sauce
2-2 cup sugar
Dash salt
2-4 cup boiling water
1 egg yolk slightly beaten
1-2 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind of 1-4 orange and 1-4 lemon.

Mix flour, sugar and salt. Add boiling water and cook until clear, stirring constantly. Place over hot water and continue cooking five minutes longer. Pour over egg yolk and beat well. When partially cooled, add fruit juices and rinds. Cool. Makes 11-2 cup sauce.

French Chocolate
2-2 Squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate, cut in pieces
1-2 cup cold water
3-4 cup sugar
Dash of salt
1-2 cup cream, whipped
6 cups hot milk

Combine chocolate and water and cook over direct heat 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Beat with rotary beater until smooth; add sugar and salt, return to fire, and cook 4 minutes longer. Cool. Fold into cream. Place one rounding tablespoon of chocolate mixture in each serving cup and pour hot milk over it, filling cup. Stir well to blend. Serves 8.

Swans Down Angel Food Cake
(8 to 10 egg whites)
1 cup sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1 cup egg whites (8-10 egg whites)
1-4 teaspoon salt
11-4 cup sifted granulated sugar
1-4 teaspoon almond extract
1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1-4 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, and sift four more times. Beat egg whites and salt on a large platter with flat wire whisk. When foamed, add cream of tartar and continue beating until eggs are stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Fold in sugar carefully, two teaspoons at a time, until all is used. Fold in flavoring. Then sift small quantity of flour over mixture, fold in carefully; continue until all is used. Pour batter into ungreased angel food pan and bake in slow oven at least one hour. Begin at 275 degrees F, and after 30 minutes increase heat slightly (325 degrees F) and bake 30 minutes longer. Remove from oven and invert pan for 1 hour, or until cold.

Golden River Custard
4 eggs or eight egg yolks, slightly beaten
1-2 cup sugar
1-3 teaspoon salt
4 cups milk, scalded
1-2 cup Log Cabin Syrup

Combine eggs, sugar and salt

Add milk gradually, stirring vigorously. Place 1 teaspoon syrup in bottom of well greased custard cup. Fill cups carefully with milk and egg mixture, pouring slowly against a spoon held over syrup to avoid its mixing with syrup. Place custard cups in a pan of hot water and bake in slow oven (325 degrees F) 35 to 40 minutes, or until knife inserted comes out clean. Chill. Loosen edges with sharp knife and unmold on serving dishes. Custard should hold its shape, while syrup spreads over and around it. Serves 8.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY VERA RAMSEY

Alexander, Grand Duke of Russia, made for himself many friends with his book "Once a Grand Duke." His charming and vigorous style of writing brought us a very vivid picture of the Russians of the old days of royalty. He applies this same easy and fascinating manner in his book "Twilight of Royalty," which gives intimate portraits of European royalty of today—the ten sovereigns who still keep their thrones and those who have passed into the discard.

First of all that Royal Tight-Rope Walker, Alfonso, tells his own story. Then come the stories of the shadow-emperors of Russia, of Zita of Austria and her dreams for her son, of the Crown Prince of Germany who remained loyal to his father, and of the trio who made their exits on rubber-soles—Manual of Portugal, George of Greece and the Sultan of Turkey. Last of all, is described the art of weathering the storm. Ten sovereigns still retain their European thrones and their technique in keeping their crowns are herein described. This includes such diversified personalities as King George V of England and Ras Tafari, the present Emperor of Abyssinia.

As the Grand Duke is related by blood and marriage to nearly all of Europe's royalty, he tells us facts about them that are not well known. We see them less as dummies in a political scene and more as men and women of flesh and blood and possessing individualities of their own. The Grand Duke is able to do this through an intimate account of personalities and events and through writing with a point of view which is unique and highly revealing.

The last three decades of the 19th century are among the most fascinating periods of English political and social history. We see the superstructure of the Victorian Age more outwardly magnificent than ever, but standing on the faintest foundations that were to crumble with the first storm. Here is a society of abounding vitality, a gay and frivolous age, supremely satisfied with itself, with an abundance of creative genius, yet with a strain of impending tragedy ever present. For the Victorians had pinned their faith to progress and had forgotten the fate of every species in the past that has failed to adapt itself to changed conditions.

In "The Victorian Sunset" by Esme Wingfield-Stratford, all the color, laughter, and variety of the frivolous seventies, the gay eighties, and the naughty nineties are made to live again all the more vividly from that contrasting background of tragedy. We are allowed to hear the compliments and small talk of a typical dinner in the seventies. We are asked to inspect the gimcracks with which the nineties cluttered their rooms. We see Whistler, with his drawl and eye-glass, annihilating the Solicitor-General in the historic law-suit against Ruskin; we watch Biggar and Parnell joyously turning the Mother of Parliaments into a beer-garden; we see the Prince of Wales and the Kaiser getting on each other's nerves at Cowes; we watch the early tennis parties at which gentlemen were expected to keep on their coats and ladies, holding up their skirts, tried to hit the ball as high as possible. Then by way of contrast we have intensely earnest "Women Who Did," doing it; we trace the rise of Bernard Shaw and the fall of Oscar Wilde. These are only a random selection from the series of impressionistic sketches that follow each other in breathless succession.

When Alfred C. B. Fletcher graduated from college, a friend gave him this advice "Keep Moving." With this as a slogan he set out to work his way around the world. These experiences were set forth in his book "From Job to Job Around the World."

Upon the completion of his trip around the world his vagabonding days came to an end. He did not, however, abandon traveling. His new book "Keep Moving" tells of some of his later journeys when economy was less of a necessity and when a reasonable amount of comfort was obtainable.

The fact that he traveled this time with more means at his disposal does not indicate that he had the experiences of an ordinary tourist. Few travelers to England have spent the night sleeping in a taxi-cab after a vain search for a room. While in Holland he and a friend roved the entire business of Rotterdam through an underground canal. In the Belgium province he became the good friend of many trades people and was enthusiastically entertained by them. His travels in other parts of Europe and in the Orient were accompanied by more adventures as unique and interesting.

This is a posthumous publication by the author's brother. It was the anticipation of the author that these travels should appear in print. The original manuscript went down with him on the Vestriz which met with misfortune enroute to South America. Publishers had extra copies of the manuscript, so it was not lost to the world. Through reading the introduction by his brother and also from the author's own words we derive a picture of this whimsical and thoroughly charming man.

SNOW FLAKES ARE OVEN-FRESH

...always crisp...wherever and whenever you buy them!

Women agree about Snow Flakes. They all recognize the unfailing freshness, the true-wheat flavor, the tempting daintiness that makes Snow Flakes the popular cracker of the Coast.

Freshness enhances the flavor of crackers, just as it makes all foods taste better. And when you buy Snow Flakes, you can be sure of oven-freshness. Why?

FIRST, because Snow Flakes are the fastest selling soda wafers in the West—speedy sales keep stocks fresh everywhere.

SECOND, because of the great western "Uneeda Bakers" bakeries. One is located near you, bringing every home within a few hours of the Snow Flake ovens.

THIRD, oven-freshness is sealed into the familiar red package—the wax wrapping keeps moisture out.

Don't ask for crackers—say

MONA TOWNSEND, beautiful young widow, inherits her husband's millions with the provision that she must not reward her marriage, arranged by her husband's lawyer, who was Mona's employer, was a strange affair, leaving her free at the end of a year to become her husband's wife in actuality or secure a divorce. Mona, in love with her husband's nephew, BARRY TOWNSEND, agreed to the marriage when she thought Barry was set to her.

She employs LOTTIE CARR, a fashion model, as her secretary-companion and they set out for South America, where Barry and STEVE SACCARELLI are partners in a diamond mine. Mona's brother, BUD, works at the mine. Mona hopes for a reconciliation with Barry. She also feels Barry is entitled to a share of his uncle's fortune and wants to find a way to arrange this legally.

Learning that Barry and Steve are on vacation at Holiday Island, the girls leave their boat at Port of Spain. There they meet Bud who takes them to Holiday Island. Barry and Steve are cordial, but their greeting lacks warmth. Mona wishes she had not come. Barry does not ask for explanations and she cannot make them.

MISS GRACIE, middle-aged spinster, comes from Port of Spain to serve as chaperon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIII

For all Lottie's artful planning dinner at Holiday House that evening was singularly unromantic. There was no lovely gowns and there was no lingering over a candle-lit table, no strolling in the moonlight. It proved to be the first evening since the girls' arrival that no one dressed for dinner.

Their departure from Grenada was delayed, the carpenters taking a great deal of time to decide finally that they could not begin work on the hangar for at least a week. The motor boat left the harbor two hours later than had been planned. Sam, the native boy, was at the wheel while Barry and Steve spent most of the trip in rather disgruntled discussion.

When they arrived at the house they found the table on the veranda still set for dinner, the flowers drooping under the electric light and fireflies gathering on the terrace. The food in the kitchen had long since cooled and lost its flavor.

"I sent the maids home for the night," Miss Gracie said, unperturbed. "There seemed to be no knowing when you'd come. I thought you might have dined at Grenada."

"Well, we can't lure those carpenters here for a week yet," Steve announced. "I was going to buy this girl a pair of monkeys to take back to New York."

Back to New York! Mona felt her heart throb sharply. Her cheeks suddenly grew cold. Steve and Barry were thinking then of their departure!

"Don't buy those monkeys yet a while," Barry said hastily and Mona sighed, reassured. "We're not going to let Mona and Lottie get away for a long time. They haven't seen half the sights yet."

"How can I? I might possibly say something to Steve but neither one—"

"Neither one has recognized your marriage," finished Lottie, rising. "Well, I'm ready to go if you say so, Mona, but my advice is to get into action! Listen, tomorrow, I'll corral Steve and take him some place. That will leave you and Barry alone so you can talk to him. Tell him why you came. Tell him you love him. You do, don't you? He can't do anything more than call you a forward hussy and after that you'll know where you stand! Tell him you're the fourth wealthiest woman in New York now and want to hand over some of your gold. Ask him how it can be done—"

"He won't tell me if he knows—and I don't think he does," Mona argued.

Lottie came a step nearer. "Barry will never let you get that far," she went on. "When you tell him you love him he'll either stop you and say everything is O. K. or else he'll leave you sitting right where you are! I think to-morrow at tea time would be a good time—"

"I see you have it all planned," Mona said acidly. Then her manner changed. She took Lottie by the shoulders. "You are a darling, Lottie! You are!"

"Anyhow I mean well," mimicked Lottie, her face close to Mona's own.

They both laughed. "I doubt it," Mona added, kissing her. "I never will trust blonds—or brunets either. Only I don't do all that, Lottie. If Barry doesn't speak to me soon it's all over. We'll go back home and think of something else to do but I can't speak to Barry about—"

"I understand," Lottie agreed soberly. "Well, good night. Go to sleep!"

"Oh, I'll sleep," Mona promised. But she did not. Long after Lottie ceased moving about in the next room, long after lights had ceased to shine through the lattice work at the top of the door leading into the hallway and silence settled over the entire household Mona lay wide eyed and heart sick.

She sat up in her huge bed, intent on the amazing stillness of the tropic night. The fragrance of honeysuckle and jasmine floated through the wide windows which enclosed the stars. The fringe of trees beyond were carved in jade, bathed in white moonlight.

Mona arose and, walking to the window, drew in great breaths of the sweetened air. Far below, the beach lay white in the moonlight. The sea murmured. She could hear the waves roll in, hesitate, churn, then spill into whispering foam.

She could hear the tide drag the lost wave back, rather, roll in again. Otherwise the night was so still that she could hear the beating of her own heart.

"I believe I'll go down there for a walk," Mona decided presently. "Perhaps I can think there a little more easily. Perhaps I'll be able to make up my mind what to do." She paused uncertainly. "There is, of course, only one thing to do—and that is go home!"

Swiftly and quietly she tossed off her pajamas, dressed in a white skirt, soft yellow sweater and rubber soled shoes. She knew it would be cool on the beach.

The door opened gently and the stairs, fortunately, made no sound beneath her feet. She crept across the wide hall to the door which each night she had learned was left wide open. There were no prowlers to fear on Holiday!

Beneath the stars on the terrace Mona stood for an instant, considering the stillness which held the house in its grip. Then she looked seaward. Far away toward the Grenadines a necklace of yellow lights was flung out on the water. The portlights of the motor boat bobbed in the harbor.

As she moved down the pathway the flamboyant trees flicked her face gently with their fragrance. It did not occur to Mona to be afraid. She gained the sand. Ah, here she could really think! Was it safe to lie on the sand at night or any other time? Of course it was safe! Why not? Anyhow, it was delightful. Mona stretched her slender length along the shelf of rock where the shadows played, her hands beneath her head. This was comfort. This was peace.

Silence and still more silence. All of a sudden Mona felt rather than heard a sound. Someone was near her! She sat upright, tense and alert. It had been foolish to come. Foolhardy and silly beyond words. Who was making that sound? A bird perhaps or the wind?

A shadow separated itself suddenly from a clump of trees and moved toward her. The girl started to scream and found she could not.

Recent overnight guests in the Dan Nightingale home were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nightingale and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Berg and family, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Epps and family.

Willis Carter, of Redondo Beach, was a Sunday guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. King Rutledge.

SENATE PREPARES WAY FOR RETURN OF SALOON

The "repealer" for the 18th amendment has passed the Senate, by better than a two-thirds majority, and has been passed on to the House. The provisions of the amendment, which repeals the 18th amendment, fulfills the predictions of the "dry" forces of this country, when these forces declared that the "wets" will not pass an amendment that will protect the states from the ravages of the saloon. It was declared by the advocates of repeal, and stated by the leaders of the "wet" forces in all parties, that there was no intention of the return of the saloon.

They declared that in repealing the 18th amendment, it would be done by an amendment to the Constitution that would insure the protection of the states from the return of an institution which would permit the general drinking of liquor on the premises where the liquor was sold. The "dry" leaders, who had fought this "wet" crowd for years, knew there was no truth in this. They knew that the "wet" leaders intended to have the saloon returned, and that they were simply endeavoring to fool the people upon the proposition.

The issue was brought clearly before the Senate yesterday for a vote. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, in order to carry out the spirit of the planks in both the Republican and Democratic platforms, proposed an amendment to the resolution for repeal, which would eliminate the possibility of a return of the saloon, by forbidding consumption of intoxicants on the premises where sold. This was defeated by a vote of 47 to 37. And then the resolution, without any security to the states, was passed by the Senate. Let us note the language of the resolution. It says:

Section 1. The Eighteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

Section 2. The transportation into any State, Territory or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

We would emphasize this because we would have our readers bear in mind that in the very beginning of the operation, the leaders of the "wet" crowd were false to the very proposition upon which they gained support. It is simply the bald repeal of the 18th amendment, which will be before the people, and there is nothing to prohibit, in this proposed amendment to the Constitution, the return of the saloon, with all its villainy and its power for evil. And it was never intended that there should be anything else by the ones who were putting money into the campaign to defeat the amendment. Both United States Senators from California voted for the "repealer" as it finally stands.

It should be borne in mind that there is absolutely no protection, to any state, as far as this repeal of the 18th amendment is concerned, from the introduction into that state of the saloon, with all of its attendant evils. We might just as well frankly admit that the liquor traffic has possession, and it has never hesitated to lie—in fact, lying, compared with its other activities, might be considered almost a virtue.

The dirtiest work that has ever been done in American political life has been carried on within the past year in regard to this repeal. Public statements were prepared for weeks ahead, prior to the last national conventions, and released at the proper time to have their effect upon the people and the conventions. The whole thing was programmed.

Now we are finding our representatives, both in the Senate and the House of Representatives, ignoring the promises of the platforms and of the "wet" propaganda, to protect the states from the return of the saloon, and voting "sleazebag" with the liquor traffic. But Congressmen listen to the election returns, and the vote in California indicated that the people are anxious for the return of liquor.

A FUNERAL ORATION

It was refreshing to note that a group of Berkeley boys became incensed the other night because Dr. Will Durant said that democracy was dead, and offered some changes which they charged were Fascistic. There have been many bugaboos in the last few years. Fascism, among them, holds the greatest danger, more than one careful observer opines, to democracy. It would seem, from the attitude that the young people took in heckling Dr. Durant that his death pronouncement on democracy, like Samuel Clemens' was a great exaggeration.

Dr. Durant is not one of the enemies of democracy. In an address in Claremont yesterday, and we presume it was much the same as the one he delivered in Berkeley, he said that political equality is cloaking the greatest economic inequality the world has ever known. He analyzed the drift which has brought about this situation and made one or two proposals for remedying it.

Dr. Durant aims to revitalize democracy. It is unfortunate that he and the students at Berkeley had a tiff for evidently they are a group ready to do battle for democracy and Dr. Durant believes that democracy is dying or has died because of neglect, ignorance, greed, selfishness, and indifference. However, if they couldn't understand Dr. Durant, it would appear that they couldn't, they couldn't be much help, for brains are needed as much as brawn.

Dr. Durant proposes that candidates for public office be trained, that there be certain requirements as there are for the physician and the dentist. It might, of course, work into a dangerous governing class and he offered no guarantee that it would not. It was merely a plan for developing trained public officials. There is no comparison between his proposal and Fascism which is the exercise of power more or less linked with intelligence. In Germany the mayors of the cities are trained men and have been for years. The idea is not new. Dr. Durant specifically says let everybody vote. He is not an enemy of democracy. He would that there were more of it, that it were more manifest, functioned more competently and afforded more promise of functioning more competently in the future.

MR. DAWES ADMITS LARGE LOAN

We have to pay our compliments to Dawes again. We have referred heretofore to the time he loaned Lorimer, at the head of a bank in Chicago, a million dollars in cash, so as to fool the bank examiners into the belief that Lorimer had the money in the bank, which he did not have. Lorimer afterwards was fined $125,000 for this fraud and deceit.

Yesterday, Mr. Dawes admitted that the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, of which Mr. Dawes is the head, loaned $11,000,000 to the Insull enterprises, when they had only $24,000,000 as a total capitalization and surplus in their bank. He agreed that this was a violation, as he spoke of "the principles of the law." Under the law which governs national banks, 10 per cent of their capital and surplus, we understand, can be loaned to one party. This would have been $2,400,000. The purpose of the law is to protect the depositors from having too much of their money backed by only one kind of security.

Instead of confining it to 10 per cent in this case, there was nearly 40 per cent, or four times as much as the law permitted. We all know about the collapse of the Insull companies. Now the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which advanced $90,000,000 to this same Dawes bank, is holding the securities which the Dawes bank had for the $11,000,000 from the Insull enterprises. And Mr. Dawes blandly admits: "Yes, it was a violation of the spirit of the law"; that he was abroad at the time the loan was made.

He did not say whether he was consulted, but in any case the law was there to guide them. A $5 cable message would have informed Mr. Dawes and it may have been possible that one and many messages passed concerning it.

Legends—Exploded But Significant

Christian Science Monitor

It is a mistake to suppose that the twentieth century merely destroys legends. It also starts them. Sometimes it does both at once. A new talkie concerned with the burning of Rome does not let its Nero fiddle during the conflagration. Thus is a celebrated legend exploded. On the other hand, the film Nero plays an instrument somewhat resembling a lyre. Thus is a new legend invented to replace the old one, for it is rather more than doubtful whether Nero indulged his musical inclinations at all on that renowned occasion.

But professors are not as kind-hearted as film producers. The learned lecturer who a few days ago exploded the famous story of Dick Whittington and his cat and their marvelous attainment of fame and fortune by proving to an audience of children that Whittington, far from being a poor boy, was the son of one of London's richest bourgeois, failed to suggest any alternative legend.

Perhaps, after all, however, the matter is not very serious. The story of Dick Whittington, though not such as to satisfy the George Washington of the cherry tree—now considered a fiction—is as accurate as the story of Hamlet, and will perhaps live as long. Many pantomimes, in distant years to come will almost certainly continue to give it place upon the stage.

And even for sober historians the legend has its uses. If not evidence about the people concerning whom they are told, legends are at least evidence concerning the people by whom they are believed. Were nothing else, for example, known about English men and women save that they invented this legend of a poor young man who through his own merit, rose to high fame and fortune, it would reveal them to be at heart a people democratic enough to recognize courage and perseverance in individuals as warranting fame and achievement.

Who Vouched For First Horses?

San Francisco Chronicle

You read that it is far easier for a man to get into Who's Who than for a horse to get into the English Jockey Club's stud book. This is true. A man has no need of ancestors to enter the human Who's Who, but to crash the equine Who's Who a horse's pedigree must be perfect. No nag gets into the stud book unless its whole family tree is already there.

Yet this leaves the burning question of how the first horses got into the first edition of the stud book. Horsemen will answer, with some scorn of your ignorance, that the first horses were the celebrated Byerley Turk, the equally notable Darley Arabian and the no less famous Godolphin Barb.

This still leaves the un-horsey person shaking his head. Who vouched for this Turk, that Arabian and the Barb? Who knows but that in the countries from which these founders of thoroughbred royalty were imported they were mere plucks, castoffs that?

Ho, hum! There is always a place where pedigree—human as well as equine—comes to a stop. It is probably just as well.

That Surprising China

Oakland Tribune

Even in finances the Chinese have their paradoxes. By all our ways of reasoning the Government over there should be poor. The silver price has dropped, some forty million of Chinese dollars in Manchurian revenues have been lost, and there have been floods and a depression. Yet the Government has so improved its financial position that from February to December, 1932, it met expenses without resort to loans, for the first time in its history.

The Institute of Pacific Relations explains that this has been accomplished by reduction of expenses, including some decrease in the military operations, by centralization of tax collections and by the increased customs revenues from the revised import tariff. Chinese bonds, railway and others have gone up on the London and New York exchanges. In view of the present war situation, a Government which can do this is worth, in the end, more than a considerable amount of gunpowder.

Well, We Asked For It

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

PREFERENCE

I like to angle for a trout
And watch his bony head thrust out

While he endeavors to secure
My delicate and gauzy lure.

I like to tease a savage leech
To wriggle through the water-grass

And heave a soft contented sigh
When he observes my dangling fly.

Then watch his sad despondent look
The while he dangles on my hook.

I like to watch the dappled deer
Rush through the wood in mad career

Without suspecting any plot
To stop him with a rifle shot.

I like to track the ambling bear
The while he ambles from his lair

To munch the huckleberries which
In summertime grow lush and rich.

Poor brute, he'd lope away in fear
If he suspected I was near.

I like to trail the wily moose
When he is running wild and loose.

And think how excellent to eat
Will be the creature's flavory meat.

As well as how he'll grace my hall
When he is mounted by the wall.

But though I dearly love to roam
I much prefer to stay at home.

And let the trout and deer and bears
And moose pursue their own affairs.

This afternoon some man was going around ringing doorbells and giving away little samplers of talcum powder, and me dignity. They think more of themselves as people at this stage of growth than they do when they are forty. Their personal dignity is very new and proportionately precious. Anything that affects it gives them acute pain. Mental suffering can be acute in very young children and we must be on guard against it.

Bunny rose in a bad mood. His stockings wouldn't go on right and he couldn't find his tie. He didn't want eggs for breakfast and he couldn't see why his milk couldn't be sold enough.

"That's about enough, Bunny. You got out of bed on the wrong foot this morning. Better keep quiet until your feet better. Now that will do. I am not going to listen to any more of this nonsense. Finish your breakfast. I think you need a dose of medicine."

"I do not. That's what you always say. I'm not going to stay in this old house any more. I'm going to go somewhere where I can have something I want once in a while. You'll see."

He left his books on the porch and started off on his way to a better place. His mother thought that he was in school. When he did not arrive for lunch she called up the school and learned that he had not been there. "I wonder where the child has gone. I know he wasn't feeling well. Maybe I should have kept him home and put him to bed. It is hard to know what is best to do with him when he is like this."

All afternoon she worried and watched, but no Bunny. Father came home and mother told him the story. "All right. Never

Which we did, running around the block back the other way and me almost bumping into trees and things on account of Glasses' glasses making me see worse instead of better, and we asked him and he said, All right but this is the last time, I'm glad to get rid of these things but there's a limit.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

OWNERSHIP GOES IMPERSONAL

In the significant volume on The Modern Corporation and Private Property, by Berle and Means, to which I referred yesterday, there occurs this important statement: "Ownership of wealth without appreciable control and control of wealth without appreciable ownership appears to be the logical outcome of corporate development."

The essence of this is that, in this age of physical science and industrial technology, ownership grows increasingly impersonal.

This book shows that in 1900, of all issues of corporate stock in the United States 4,400,000 persons owned $66,000,000,000 of corporate stock.

By 1928, of all issues of corporate stock in the United States, 18,000,000 persons owned $92,000,000,000 of corporate stock.

In 1900, the average holding of corporate stock was 140 shares.

By 1928, the average holding of corporate stock was 51 shares.

This means that in these 29 years the small stockholders were rapidly growing in number.

"Ownership has passed from the managing few to the investing many," say the authors in commenting on these facts.

The interesting thing, however, is that as ownership of the nation's enterprise has spread more and more widely it has become less and less active in the actual control of the enterprises it owns.

The actual control of the nation's enterprises, taking the 200 largest corporations as a sample, is in the hands, not of the actual owners of the stocks of these enterprises, but of an even smaller and smaller group which controls, in the main, through one or more of the following three devices: (1) Self-perpetuating management.

(2) Legal devices.

(3) Active minority interest.

This is, in many ways, the most significant fact of our generation, for upon the shoulders of the ever smaller groups actually controlling the nation's enterprises depends whether or not we are to see and increase or decrease of government control, at least, or some form of socialism or communism at most.

This is obvious, I think, because the spread of stock ownership means that more and more "the people" own the nation's enterprises, although "the people" do not, despite their ownership of stocks, actually control the enterprises.

If those who do control the enterprises fail to control them in a manner satisfactory to the vast army of owners, the chance that the owners will lend a willing ear to some new form of social control will be greatly increased. Copyright, 1933, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

SAVING FACE

Saving face is something to be considered when we are dealing with children over nine years of age, or thereabout. A personality has been born in them and great dignity. They think more of themselves as people at this stage of growth than they do when they are forty. Their personal dignity is very new and proportionately precious. Anything that affects it gives them acute pain. Mental suffering can be acute in very young children and we must be on guard against it.
